Peace plan hits a snag

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The U.S. Government reported today that Israel and Egypt had agreed to a new six-point plan designed to firm up the Middle East cease-fire and to bring about full peace negotiations soon. But a hitch apparently developed in Israel.

There, Premier Golda Meir called a special meeting of her Cabinet to discuss what an official described as a last-minute snag over the U.S. plan.

Shortly before the announcement, Israel said Egyptian missiles had shot down an Israeli reconnaissance plane, shelling was reported on the Syrian front and Premier Golda Meir called in the U. S. ambassador amid reports that a hitch had developed in the plan worked out to bolster the cease- fire.

There was no immediate indication of what the hitch might be but the announced agreement differed from one reported in Israel on Thursday.

The announcement of the plan said representatives of the two nations are to sign the agreement, worked out with the help of U. S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, on Saturday at a meeting on the Suez- Cairo road under U. N. auspices.

County Court to buy landfill site

BENTON — The Scott County Court voted unanimously Thursday to purchase the sanitary landfill site one mile north of Morley on Highway 61 as a landfill for Scott County residents.

The landfill site, owned by Kenneth Dement of Sikeston, was the lowest bid submitted to the court. The bid was $300 per acre for a total of 110 acres. The county has been leasing the site since Oct. 4.

Schlosser's Construction Co. of Benton submitted the only other bid. It was for 100 acres at $500 per acre. His property is located two and a half miles south of Benton.

According to Presiding Judge Les Lankford, the present landfill site would save the county money. "Approximately $13,000 has already been invested in the land by previous landowners," he remarked.

Lankford added the landfill site is already open and doesn't require any further work. "If an alternate landfill site had been chosen it would be at least 30 days before it could be put into operation," he said.

The court said at present they do not know if they will operate the landfill themselves or hire someone to do it for them.

The County Court announced Oct. 4 that it had leased the landfill for three months and would permit county residents to use it free of charge.

The Scott County Mayors Association voted Oct. 9 to recommend to the court that it purchase the present landfill site.

New Jersey woman killed

A Cherry Hill, N. J. woman was killed and four other persons were injured in two traffic accidents in the Bootheel Thursday, according to the highway patrol.

Janet Galasso, 22, died in the emergency room of Doctors Hospital in Poplar Bluff a short time after a two- car accident occurred at 7:30 p.m. on Highway 67 at Neelyville.

The patrol said Miss Galasso was attempting to make a left turn when a car driven by Bernard Zeisset, 33, of Trenton, Ill. attempted to pass her car and struck it in the side, causing her car to overturn.

The body was taken to Cottrell Funeral Home in Poplar Bluff.

Zeisset suffered a minor injury and a passenger in his car, Jimmy Leach, received serious injuries. Both were taken to Doctors Hospital in Poplar Bluff.

Ladonna Faye Duke, 22, of East Prairie was injured at 8 p.m. Thursday on Highway 80 six miles east of East Prairie when she lost control of her car, ran off the road and struck a culvert.

Cotton picking night work

Police join computer network

The police department today announced that the police computer terminal has now been tied into a computer network encompassing eight Midwestern states.

The computer will be hooked into each state's Department of Revenue files. Within six to 10 seconds of making the request, police will be able to receive information on automobile ownership, vehicle identification, license plates and driver's license status from the states, police said.

States included in the network are Missouri, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, and Kentucky.

In addition, police will also be able to send administrative messages direct to the states. Currently, messages must be sent to Phoenix, Ariz. and then relayed. The process now takes from one to five hours.

Funds being raised

Fetal monitor system needed at hospital

Only one fourth of the total funds needed for a fetal monitor system at Missouri Delta Community Hospital remains to be collected.

Dr. Leandro Cejas, who has been trying for five years to acquire the system for the hospital, said recently that donations from private citizens and organizations for the $13,360 system are nearing $10,000.

The system would give doctors some warning of developing fetal distress, and would help the present nursing personnel give better care of patients in labor, Dr. Cejas said.

He explained that there are factors during pregnancy, at the time of delivery, and during the first 28 days of life that are associated with cerebral damage. These factors in one way or another may deprive the fetal or newborn brain of oxygen and lead to brain damage. Thus adequate prenatal, delivery and post partum care of the newborn are essential to decrease the incidence of cerebral damage and other birth defects, he explained.

Even healthy pregant patients can experience complications that cause fetal distress, Dr. Cejas said, and by monitoring the fetus during labor, and later on the prematurely born baby, doctors can provide the means for early identification of possible problems which can then be followed by intervention and suitable treatment to minimize the occurrence of brain damage in many instances.

Studies in 24.853 pregnancies in 15 university centers corraborated the fact that 50 per cent of uncomplicated pregnancies develop some sort of difficulties during labor and delivery. Some difficulties are minor and self corrected and even undetected by the untrained personnel. Some others are major problems, Dr. Cejas explained, and unless corrected or adequate intervention achieved in proper time the problem may persist and later produce irreparable damage in the newborn.

Since the nursing availability and anesthesia coverage, not only here but in most parts of the country, does not allow enough help and time in some circumstances to prevent these conditions, the electronic equipment for which donations are being collected is needed at the Missouri Delta Community Hospital, he said.

With the machine, in some cases surgery can be prevented by correcting by other means circumstances that are producing fetal distress. In other circumstances fetal damage can be prevented by acting in time, which otherwise would not have been possible with present means, he explained. With use of the system, a distress may even be detected that would have caused the baby's death.

So far, such specialized facilities are available only in major medical centers but many doctors are promoting the development of such centers in smaller communties, taking into consideration that time, in many instances, is essential in the prevention of conditions that could lead to brain damage.

The fetal monitor system can prevent mental retardation as caused by the failure of the fetus to receive enough oxygen. Mental retardation can be caused by some 200 pathological conditions, many of which doctors can try to prevent by modern technology.

Dr. Cejas explained that the mentally retarded are children and adults who from birth or childhood show significant impairment in intelligence and equally severe difficulties in adapting to the demands of their daily environment.

Only 25 per cent of the mentally retarded appear different from the rest of the population. The largest number of the mentally retarded's intellectual and adaptational problems arise when abstract thinking is required, either in the process of learning or in the process of job performances.

An account for funds for the system has been opened at a local bank.

Contributions may be sent to Fetal Monitor Fund, Ferguson Medical Group, 1012 North Main, Sikeston, Missouri 63801 in care of Dr. Leandro Cejas or Dr. Joseph Blanton. Checks should be made out to the above fund, and are tax deductible.

Tax relief announced for elderly

BENTON— Scott County Assessor Bill Ferrell has announced his office has been informed by the Department of Revenue Senior Citizens Credit Group of Jefferson City that the 77th Missouri General Assembly enacted a tax relief measure to ease the property tax burden on low- income, senior citizens.

According to Ferrell, passage of the law does not relieve senior citizens of their liability to pay county and city property taxes. The act provides a credit which may be in the form of a cash refund or a deduction against Missouri state income tax liability.

To qualify the claimant or spouse must be 65 years old on or before Dec. 31, he must have been a Missouri resident for the entire 1973 calendar year, the annual household income must not exceed $7,500 and he must rent or own the home he occupied during 1973.

Claimants who meet the qualifications must complete schedule SC- Senior Citizens Income Tax Credit Claim, to determine if they are entitled to any credit or refund. If claimant and spouse are eligible to file a joint federal income tax return, only one senior citizen claim may be filed. The credit will then be allowed only on a combined Missouri income tax return or a combined claim return reporting their combined incomes and prperty tax or rent. In determining the credit or refund, property tax and rent paid will be totaled on each claim up to a maximum of $400.

If a claimant and one or more qualified individuals (not including a spouse) occupy a single home, each may be a claimant. Each individual will use only the property taxes or rent they paid in computing the allowable credit. A senior citizen claim may be filed by an estate on behalf of a deceased claimant for property taxes or rent paid by deceased or by the estate of the deceased for 1973.

If a claimant, or claimant and spouse, are not required to file a Missouri individual income tax return, a refund may be received by filling only schedule SC with the required statements attached.

If claimant, or claimant and spouse, are required to file a Missouri individual income tax return, schedule SC will be completed with the required statements, attached to Missouri individual income tax return, and the amount of senior citizen income tax credit will be claimed.

The claims must be filed by April 15, 1974.

Ferrell said if a senior citizen does not receive a Senior Citizen Income Tax Credit Claim by Jan. 1, 1974 or if additional information is needed, he should contact a local Department of Revenue branch office or write: Missouri Department of Revenue, Senior Citizen Credit Group, P. O. Box 500, Jefferson City, Mo. 65101.

According to Ferrell this is the first information anyone in the courthouse had received concerning the tax relief.

"My office has received a lot of telephone calls concerning the tax relief and it is my opinion the Department of Revenue did a poor job of informing senior citizens of the law," he remarked.

"The history of the past decade," Dr. Philip H. Abelson, president of the Carnegie Institute, is quoted as saying, "has been marked especially with increased federal government in almost every facet of our lives. There are special dangers to society in the patterns that have been developing in support of research and in support of higher education. Shortly after World War II when the government began to support fundamental research many voices of warning were raised. The dangers of government control and interference were pointed out. Initially the granting agencies and Congress were extremely careful to avoid centralized control. Today it is becoming increasingly clear that the man who pays the fiddler calls the tune. Those who staff the granting agencies are sympathetic to the needs of scientists, but the power to make policy lies with the politicians, who are increasingly exerting their authority."

YOU THINK AMERICA HAS TROUBLES? WHAT'S NIGHTMARE TO US WOULD BE UTOPIA TO THE WORLD

In much-envied Japan, the best beef costs $35 a pound; pollution is so bad in Tokyo that traffic policemen take an "oxygen break" every hour — 3 minutes of breathing bottled oxygen; their factories produce ten times the industrial waste per square mile that our factories do and 70% fail to process their waste; school children pass out after playing in the smog.

Britain, France, Spain, Italy, Demark and Finland have worse inflation rates than we do, and controls have failed. (Gasoline in one country costs $1.03 a gallon).

In Brazil less than half the cities have high schools.

In Rio de Janiero as many as 6 companies have to share one telephone.

In Cuba per capita income is down to $357 per year.

In the Congo prices have risen 90% since the late 60's and wages have risen only 40%.

In mainland China workers live in huge apartments where 6 to 12 families share one kitchen.

Calcutta has a population explosion (9 million; it was 2 million just ten years ago) because people crowd in to get factory jobs at 34 cents a day — twice the Indian national scale.

We have only 6% of the world's population but we produce and consume 30% of the world's goods and services, making us better fed, better housed, better educated, with better medical care than virtually any other people on earth.

Complacent? We'd better not be! We'd better learn how to get back to being the productive people we once were, when we were safe, and genuinely prosperous — and reasonably happy.

In these days of too many dreary newscasts and dismal headlines, it sometimes seems as if journalism's prime purpose is to give everyone a good reason for ending it all. But, in fact, the bad news is really good news.

American journalism is based on the public's right to know. The misuse of political power, crime in the streets, upswings and downturns in the economy, skyrocketing prices and taxes are things which everyone should know about for they affect our daily lives and may change them dramatically. By being aware of them in advance, we can prepare for what's ahead.

Our right to a free press must be maintained. In countries where it is controlled by the government, most of the news is good, but the way of living is as awful as can be.

According to the word we get, a voter backlash against incumbents of both parties is building up across the U. S. And resentment against all politicians is running strong.

Many Americans are fed up with the way elected officials are handling matters the public feels are more important. That includes high prices, shortages, the Watergate case, and charges against former Vice President Agnew.

If this trend continues, 1974 elections could bring a lot of changes.

MEANY QUASHES PRESS FREEDOM

Even his sometimes mildly humorous matter- of- fact bluntness will not get AFL-CIO sultan George Meany out of this one.

It happened late last month during the labor federation's national union boss get-together in Miami Beach. The effusive Meany was poised to strike out against the shady dealings in the Nixon Administration with all the vinegary language at his command ... a sure- bet newsmaker.

And then Mr. Meany made a different kind of news. He banned non-union television news cameramen from covering the convention.

Meany said his decision to throw out the newsmen who were not union members was done as a special favor for bosses of the International Alliance of Theatrical and Stage Employees, AFL-CIO, which "represents" many television cameramen and is using its every resource to deny employment to any cameraman who chooses not to belong to IATSE. (After this show of contempt for the freedom of the press, we would guess that the union officials can no longer truthfully say they really "represent" any news people - at least not any practicing newsman worth his salt.)

Gene Strul, news director of WCKT, the NBC affiliate in Miami, was quoted afterwards in the New York Times, as calling Meany's action "unusual and discriminatory." It obviously was much more than that because it cut right at the fiber of our vigorous, free press by denying newsmen access to the news. As the Times later said editorially, "Censorship by union card is no more tolerable than any other brand."

Meany's action affected all Americans. It was most directly a slap in the face to the journalistic profession, which for more years than we can remember has been giving Mr. Meany a sounding- board for his rantings and ravings.

This year, in the sunshine of Right to Work state Florida — where TV cameramen and all other workers are free to join or refrain from joining Mr. Meany's unions — George Meany wasn't quite his funny old- self. In fact, this year, he showed himself as a pitiful old war-lord willing to go to any lengths to promote the thing he loves best — compulsory unionism.

He's been putting on his annual carnival in Miami Beach now for many years. He knows very well that the Constitution of the State of Florida says that union membership cannot be required of any worker in that state.

In all his blusteriness about Administration wrongdoing, what made Mr. Meany think he could stand there and blatantly defy the laws of the sovereign state of Florida?

SPAINHOWER'S GOOD STEWARDSHIP

State Treasurer James I. Spainhower has compiled a commendable record in his first six months in office, particularly in his administration of $50 million in idle funds.

Spainhower has spread deposits statewide, putting money in 327 banks in 89 counties and the City of St. Louis. Most of the money is earning Missouri taxpayers 7 per cent interest.

Deposits are being made on a formula which returns to counties an amount proportionate to the total paid to the state in income and sales taxes.

Spainhower chooses banks for deposits not on basis of favoritism, but on the bank's own willingness to maintain a loan- deposit rate of 5 per cent, plus payment of the maximum rate of interest allowed by law. The 50 per cent rate means 50 cents must be loaned for each dollar deposited.

On the whole, Spainhower's stewardship has been meticulously good.

CRUDE OIL IS STORED IN UNDERWATER TANK

Phillips Norway Group, an affiliate of Phillips Petroleum Co., Bartlesville, Okla., is employing a new concept in offshore storage of crude oil — an underwater tank.

The mammoth tank, capable of storing a million barrels of crude oil, will rest on the sea floor in 235 feet of water and extend 65 feet above the water's surface. In all, the tank will be 295 feet from top to bottom - as tall as a 19-story office building.

Designed by a French company, the tank uses a patented energy- absorbing breakwater design, consisting of an inner, crude- containing section roughly 175 square feet in area surrounded by a perforated wall measuring 302 square feet. Perforated partition walls join the two sections. The performations help absorb wave energy against the structure by allowing sea water to flow into the water - filled space between the inner and outer walls.

The Phillips group has given special consideration to pollution control in all aspects of its activities in the North Sea. Several safety features have included in the storage tank design to protect against pollution. A water tank being built into the roof of the tank will provide a means of oil/water separation so that no oil will be discharged into the surrounding sea. The oil storage section of the tank is completely isolated from the sea, and, in the event of a ship-storage tank collision, the thick outer breakwater affords maximum protection for the storage compartments.

DESPITE WATERGATE FREEDOM OF PRESS IS UNDER ATTACK

Even as the journalism fraternity is congratulaing itself on its exposure of the Watergate mess and the administration, is to put it mildly, on the defensive because of it, comes a warning that government activities continue to threaten freedom of the press, in the wildest meaning of the term.

Government measures attacking the economic capability of the television networks are just as much as a threat to journalistic freedom as efforts to stifle free expression says Robert W. Sarnoff, chairman of RCA.

And "an attack on one news medium," he warns, "Is an attack on all."

In his own medium, he told a recent NBC Television Network Affiliates convention in Los Angeles, the attack is in the form of attempts to weaken the economic structure of networking under the pretext of "localism" which, he says, could impede the flow of independent information to the people.

He is not, he says, suggesting that the government has adopted such a design. "But I am concerned that an atmosphere has developed where networks are perceived as fair game.

In noncommercial television, he says, we have been witnessing another variation. There, the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, controlled directly by government appointees, has been dismantling national news and public affairs programming.

As for the broader threat to journalistic freedom, Sarnoff cites the "unprecedented spectacle" of high federal officials attacking the national news media in general, the increasingly common device of subjecting investigative reporters to subpoenas and the threat of jail sentences and the use of official secrecy as a cloak for official mistakes and derelictions.

"Whichever of these different means of suppression is employed, the effect is to deprive the public of what it needs to know in a free society," he says.

"What the government wants is a tamed press," alleges Sarnoff, and its efforts to make the news media docile and accommodating rely heavily on the technique of intimidation."

But he adds, "This technique works only against those who are willing to be timid."

There is little doubt that we are becoming highly specialized in almost every field of human endeavor. It is one of our strengths. Unfortunately, it's also one of our weaknesses.

The man who devoted his entire time and effort to one particular kind of problem develops special skills and knowledge which make him an expert in that particular area. Without exposure to other concerns, however, he may also develop "tunnel vision." Tunnel vision, says the Wall Street Journal, prevents executives from seeing beyond the special problems of their own departments. It results in a "narrow, one- sided, inflexible view."

It's a common ailment — even among otherwise competent leaders. Most managers or supervisors get their start, of necessity, in one specialty or another. The tendency - at the bottom of the ladder - is for people to know more and more about less and less. Unfortunately, the more knowledgeable some individuals become in their own work, the more all-important it becomes, in their way of thinking, and less sensitive they are to the viewpoints of people in other departments.

How does a manager widen his own viewpoint and that of the people under him? The best way is by recognizing the dangers of "tunnel vision" and fighting against it from the very start. He uses every possible contact to broaden his point of view and to understand the problems of the other departments and the business as a whole.

He doesn't build a fence around his department. He makes an effort to understand the jobs of other executives and what their departments are trying to accomplish.

He doesn't automatically take issue with everything they say, and act as if their work is in competition with his own. Nor does he respond in kind when the other fellow does something shortsighted.

He also makes a real effort to see where his activity fits in the overall picture. He knows that many problems cut across organization lines - what's best for his section or department may not always be what's best for the company as a whole. He appreciates the difference between a department and company point of view.

VICTORY IN CHILE

Chile now has a chance of becoming again the Latin American nation with the best record of republican government. The overthrow of Salvadore Allende, the Marxist leader who was allowing and encouraging the establishment of a communist dictatorship, makes it possible for Chile to return to freedom and government by the people. Under communism there was no possibility.

The new middle- class government under the military will have a difficult time rooting out the Red subversives, but the majority of Chileans already had gone against the Reds before Allende's over throw, so the task is not impossible.

Many do not realize that communist dictator Castro of Cuba had installed his Number 2 intelligence official, Luis Fernandez Ona, in Chile. Ona was married to Allende's daughter Beatriz and was directing communist subversion against the Chilean middle class as well as against the universities, the press, etc. Castro also had arms for 20,000 guerrillas shipped secretly to Chile.

Chile's free press had been virtually destroyed under Allende, as it always must be before any Marxist rule can succeed. The communist-dominated unions and a section of the communist- led intellectuals and lower classes will continue to aid Castro and communist subversion, but the constructive, creative citizens of Chile are turning away from the nightmare of Red terror and confiscation under Allende. The military, with the good citizens' help and support, will be able quickly to restore constitutional government in Chile. HLH

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

Cox Crew Sought Evidence Of A Nixon- Wallace Deal

WASHINGTON-- The new special prosecutor, Leon Jaworski, has inherited a number of unfinished investigations that could embarrass the man who appointed him.

The task force left behind by the ousted Archibald Cox has been prying into everything from President Nixon's personal finances to the $100,000 cash offering from billionaire Howard Hughes.

There have been other awkward inquiries not mentioned in the press. The special prosecutors were questioning witnesses, for example, about a whispered deal between the President and Alabama's Gov. George Wallace.

It's known that Nixon was eager to keep Wallace from running as a third- party candidate in the 1972 presidential campaign. For Wallace was a spoiler who, as an independent, would hurt Nixon but, as a Democrat, would throw the Democratic race into turmoil.

PLANE DEAL?

In May 1971, the President invited Wallace to join him on a flight from Mobile to Birmingham. No known witnesses overheard what the two men said to one another during the plane ride.

But not long afterward, the Justice Department suddenly dropped a tax investigation of Wallace's brother, Gerald, and the governor announced he would run for President as a Democrat, not as an independent.

The special prosecutors cannot prove that Nixon killed the tax case in return for a pledge from Wallace to keep off a third- party ticket. But the prosecutors have established that the White House showed a curious interest in Gerald Wallace's tax troubles before the May 1971 plane ride.

Clark Mollenhoff, the tough investigative reporter who served briefly on the White House staff, has told the prosecutors that he was asked by then presidential staff chief H. R. Haldeman for a report on the Gerald Wallace tax investigation.

Mollenhoff obtained a summary of the investigation from the Internal Revenue Service, he said, and delivered it to Haldeman.

INCOME OMITTED

The audit division had found that Gerald Wallace allegedly had omitted legal- fee income from his tax returns in 1967 and 1968. After deducting large losses from his cattle farm, he reported a total taxable income of $109,944 in 1967 and $65,980 in 1968.

The case was referred on January 20, 1970, to Internal Revenue's crack intelligence division, which handles criminal investigations. A group of agents from various Southern offices, assigned to the case, reported allegations that the Wallace brothers had used their law firm to receive political kickbacks and that Gerald had failed to report all the income that came to him through the law firm.

The White House had all this information before President Nixon met with George Wallace in the spring of 1971. Not long afterward, the case against Gerald was suppressed.

KISSINGER'S SPENDING: Secretary of State Henry Kissinger last month threw a wingding, which has State Department officials whistling at the extravagance.

When the invoices came in, according to internal documents in our possession, fiscal officer Richard Murray called international conferences director Murray Jackson to express his astonishment.

The bash was held at New York City's Metropolitan Museum of Art, where the black- tied diplomats were seated around the Fountain of the Muses. The pool was adorned with garlands of greenery and large baskets of flowers. The flower bill alone cost the taxpayers an eyebrow- raising $7,983.

The guests dined elegantly on smoked trout, roast filet of veal, bouquet of vegetables, mixed green and avocado salad, Brie cheese and lemon mousse with three California wines. The taxpayers shelled out $24,385.50 just for the catering.

"Wines and Spirits" cost $3,422.11; printing costs ran $587.35. To record the bash for posterity, $222.60 was spent on photography.

A State Department spokesman told us the dinner was an annual tradition. Before the festivities, however, the striped- pants set was heralding the event as "totally without precedent."

COLSON'S COUP: It has been published that former White House aide Charles Colson tried to pull strings inside the Securities and Exchange Commission, which regulates the corporate world. We can now add another jigsaw piece to the puzzle.

Last January, aide Fred Malek was preparing recommendations for President Nixon for the SEC chairmanship. Colson shot off a memo to Malek, dated January 8, 1973, urging:

"When you are putting together a position paper for the President, would you please record me as favoring Brad Cook. Even though he is young, he is well experienced in politics, he knows the Commission and would be able to move immediately on some of the very sensitive problems the Commission has. I think he would also be totally responsive here...."

Cook got the job and Colson went into private practice. Not long afterward, Colson wanted Charles K. M. Mallory appointed to an SEC post. This was urged by Colson's law partner, Charles Morin, who pleaded in an internal memo: "In short, let's get this guy in that job or Cook may turn into a disaster for us."

Morin urged that Cook "ought to be reminded of how he got the job and how he almost did not get the job."

An indignant Mallory announced he wasn't "going to dance to anyone's tune." Cook resigned under fire on May 16th.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Public Be Damned:

Death Rode the News as Firemen Hospital Workers Broke Anti- Strike Laws

NEW YORK-- Here they play politics with fire--- and the dying. Here Tuesday morning there were scenes ghastly even to a newsman who has covered revolutionary strikes the world over. Here, striking unionized firemen laid down in front of apparatus and trucks attempting to respond to fire calls during a brief strike. The brevity of which is not important.

Here, too, striking hospital workers linked themselves in human chains to block deliveries of foods to the deathly sick and blood plasma to those in emergency surgery.

Here there was the grim scene of uniformed patrolmen physically lifting prone so-called firefighters from the entrance of the New York Fire Dept's. tactical force center on Roosevelt Island.

Here the firefighters' strike leader, 46- year- old, 5- foot, 7- inch Dick Vizzini said no fire equipment would move during the citywide five- hour strike if he could help it--- not even if there were a huge fire in the midst of crowded Manhattan.

And here the militant Local 1199, Drug and Hospital Workers Union (AFL- CIO), ran some rough picket lines. There were fights. Police were injured. Arrests made.

Snarling pickets howled lasciviously and earthily at nurses, supervisors, doctors and technicians entering hospitals to minister to the sick. These are the physicians and semi-professionals who ofttimes go without food for eight and ten hours in emergencies to succor the injured, the poor and the clinic patients from the city's Dostoyevskian inner darkness of poverty.

No one really knows who did what. But there was sand in gas tanks. Auto tires on cars near the stricken 48 hospitals were slashed. Friends of mine in several hospitals were threatened if they reported for duty--- though the hospitals had thousands of sick and injured and helpless.

The firefighters are members of the Uniformed Firefighters Assn., an affiliate of the AFL- CIO's International Association of Fire Fighters-- which backed its big New York local's strike just as it backed the Milwaukee firemen's job action this week.

Of course, the Drug and Hospital strikers were backed by their national union, also an AFL— CIO affiliate. Local 1199 is the high speed local led by veteran Leon Davis who hit hard at a Charleston, S. C., hospital some years ago--- and who is pushing a national hospital unionizing drive all the way from Durham, N. C., to Baltimore, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and points west.

Of course, there are issues. Mostly wages. That is the point. And that is not the point.

The basic issue, it seems to me, is the right of firefighters and hospital workers to strike. Should a city of eight million people be imperiled? If the firefighters and hospital workers have the right to strike, doesn't the megalopolis have the right to save its life--- and lives?

Most significant point is that legally these unions do not have the right to strike. They have the right to decent pay. They have the right to bargain collectively, organize politically to punish their opponents, and the inherent privilege, in our democratic society, to propagandize for their cause.

But the state and local laws here say they do not have the right to strike. The firefighters are prohibited from striking by the state Taylor Law and the New York City Collective Bargaining law. The latter calls for an impasse panel and fact-finding on to binding arbitration. The city had put this all in motion.

The firefighters, led by their brand new president Dick Vizzini, ignored it. Vizzini, who doesn't live in this city, was elected on a get- tough-with- the- city program--- and has been in office but three months.

He told me there would be a total strike and that violating the law and going to prison meant nothing to him.

As for the hospital workers, they won recognition only by a 45- day strike and the promise not to strike. They agreed to a law--- Section 815 of the State Labor Relations Act. It provides that hospitals cannot be struck.

They must put the dispute on the table and then go to compulsory arbitration if there's no agreement. They said Monday morning when they struck, they really are striking against the Cost of Living Council delay in approving the second raise of their three- year contract. Well, this means they struck illegally against the National Stabilization Act.

Thus, what good are laws? What good is all the talk about final arbitrations? As the late John Lewis used to say, "You can't mine coal with bayonets." But as Emily Dickinson wrote--- "A bayonet's contrition is nothing to be dead!"

Rezoning report heard by Council

EAST PRAIRIE — The City Council heard a report Thursday night from Carey Johnson, chairman of the planning and zoning commission, on an Oct. 18 public hearing concerning the rezoning of 108 Webb Place from residential to commercial.

Richard Stevens, who lives at the address and wants to place used cars on the property, was present to protest the commission's recommendation to the council that the property remain residential.

Stevens said he had a petition signed by residents whose property adjoins his stating they have no objection to the car lot and he said the petition presented at the hearing was signed by persons not living in the immediate area of his property.

According to Johnson, the petition was signed by persons living within a 300-foot radius of the property.

A public hearing will be held at 7 p.m. Dec. 4 in the council chambers before a final decision is made.

The council approved the installation of a six- inch water line along Helen Street. The cost will be approximately $1,300 and the city crew will do the work.

Also approved was the purchase of a new radio for a patrol car and four walkie-talkie units for the police department. These will be purchased through the Bootheel Law Enforcement Assistance Council which will fund 90 per cent of the cost.

Following discussion on a retirement plan for city employes, the council agreed to spend $160 for an actuary evaluation of city employes which will determine the cost of a retirement plan through Local Government Employe Retirement System.

City Manager Bob Kakac informed the council that he had been contacted by two fire truck distributors and a manufacturer and that, following a meeting with the fire department, he and Fire Chief Frank King will tour Towers Fire Apparatus Co. in Freeburg, Ill. to determine what type of equipment should be purchased.

Mayor A. L. Weaver reappointed Carey Johnson and Edith Upton to the planning and zoning commission.

A request from residents on North Center Street for the city crew to remove a large tree, located between the sidewalk and street was granted.

Also approved was the request from First Bank of East Prairie for the removal of an old utility pole at the corner of Main and Lincoln Streets. Missouri Utilities will be contacted to do the work, and the traffic signal will remain at the intersection.

Kakac informed the council that Terry Green of East Prairie was employed Thursday as a day patrolman. He said he has two applications for the remaining vacancy on the police department.

A sample ordinance and contract for trash collection from the Missouri Municipal League was presented to the council for study by Kakac.

City Attorney Fielding Potashnick discussed the finalization of changes in the city ordinances and requested that the council study the ordinances in order that they can be given final approval at the next meeting.

The collector's report for October amounted to $13,318.03. Disbursements of $4,719.25 were approved. The police judge's report showed a total of $315 in collected fines for the month.

In a special meeting Oct. 30, a unanimous vote of the council favored revocation of the beer license of Buy Turbo, who operates a tavern at 703 Caldwell St.

Ann Landers

Landlord spokesman tells of various kinds of tenants

Dear Ann Landers: I am 40, my wife is 42. We fight constantly. As for sex, I am not getting any, and as for money, I don't have any left after taking her out to dinner four nights a week and paying her bills.

The money problem could be easily solved if her 22- year-old son would pay something for room and board. The bum's take- home pay is 30 per cent more than mine, but his mother says he doesn't have to give us anything because he is "her" child.

In the meantime, she waits on him hand and foot as if he were eight years. old. He brings his goofy girlfriend over here almost every night and they smoke pot until the smell of the stuff is a trip by itself.

I told my wife several times that I don't like this set- up. She says I can leave any time because her son comes first and he always will. (This house is hers.) I love my wife but life is one big hassle. What should I do, Ann?— Doormat In L. A.

Dear L. A.: I can't see that you are getting anything out of the marriage except the privilege of paying your wife's bills, supporting her freeloading son and getting semi- stoned from the pot parties.

Your signature raises a question in my mind. Why would anybody allow himself to be used as a doormat? If you really didn't like the set-up you wouldn't just lie there, you'd get up and move out.

Dear Ann Landers: You speak for the many and the few. The Upper Crust, the Middle Crust and the Crumbs. Will you dare take a stand for a much- maligned and popularly despised segment of society? I refer to the landlords.

I am not going to waste any time commenting on the people who move out in the middle of the night. Naturally they owe back- rent and have a lease. The caliber of such tenants leaves nothing to the imagination. The condition in which they leave a house or apartment is not to be believed. Everything that can be removed (with a screwdriver or an ax) goes with them. Since they usually live like pigs they leave the "sty" filthy dirty, complete with rotten food in the cupboards and refrigerator.

The star tenants, however, are those who assure you they will be out by September 30th so you go ahead and rent the place to another family. On September 26th when you call to find out what time the new tenants can move in, you are told, "Oh, our new place isn't ready yet. We won't be moving for another four to six weeks."

Meanwhile the new tenants have given notice and made arrangements with their movers.

You keep saying, "Most people are decent." I wish I could believe it, but after fifteen years of dirty tricks, I am a Doubting Thomas.

If you print this letter I'll bet thousands of landlords will have it copied and sent to their tenants. Please do it, Ann.--- Bitter Herb

Dear Herb: I'm printing your letter because I believe you have a valid complaint. But if I received a copy of this column in the mail from MY landlord I'd consider it an insult.

Confidential to Ashamed Of Myself You needn't be. It was an honest mistake. We are all ignorant--- only on different subjects.

A no- nonsense approach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangement. Ann Landers's booklet, "Marriage--- What To Expect," will prepare you for better or for worse. Send your request to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654, enclosing 50c in coin and a long, stamped, self- addressed envelope.

Spring clothes are fanciful and fey

NEW YORK (AP)— Betsey Johnson's spring collection for Alley Cat was fanciful fey and sometimes ridiculous.

She went tiny, with her hats and mini skirts. Or she went big, with midis, ruffles and nightgown dresses.

Models started in pastel bathing suits, but it was like putting the leaves back on an artichoke. Dancing and pantomining, they layered on cotton knit blouses, jackets and caps. They slipped into matching long johns.

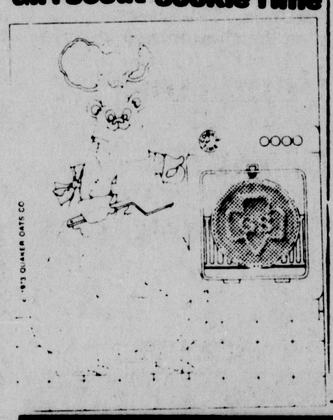

Here is the chance for everyone with a raucous sense of humor to get into Betsey's little round hats and veiling, set at a forward tilt. Pair these with a long, white suit. Or pants.

Match a drooping tam with a straight midi suit. The top looks like a football jersey with the sleeves cut out. It is so absurd that it is funny and almost likeable.

Now is the time for all the women with lean, supple bodies to show them off— shorts with long socks— chiffon pajamas with a bare middle.

Drifters and dreamers, maybe on the plump side, might to for the chiffon tent dresses.

Cook a fabulous meal in a Countertop Electronic Oven

TAPPAN
FIRST IN ELECTRONIC COOKING

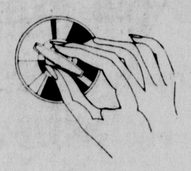

Enjoy all the many benefits of electronic cooking now . . . without remodeling your kitchen. New Tappan electronic oven fits on your kitchen countertop, plugs into standard outlets, can be moved to dining room, patio or den. Best of all, it's from Tappan -- the people who introduced electronic cooking for the home back in 1954.

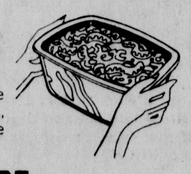

Electronic energy is a form of high frequency radio energy. When the energy comes into contact with food, instant heating takes place.

The electronic oven cooks with time, so there are no temperatures to remember. You just set the timer dial, then push the "start" button.

Because the metal surfaces in the oven reflect energy, they don't get hot. Cleaning is easier because foods don't burn in the oven.

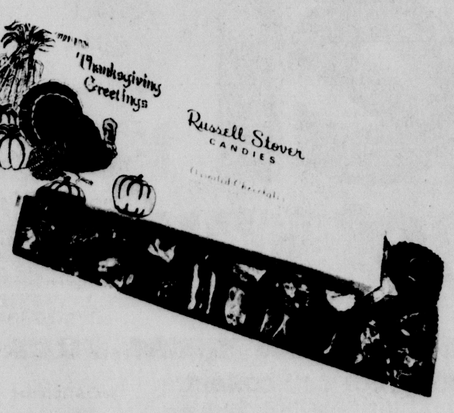

Throw away your pots and pans. In the new electronic oven, you cook in glass, paper or ceramic utensils . . . the same ones you serve in.

Let us demonstrate this miraculous new oven for you . . . then carry one home for just 295.95

Harrison offers cage guesses

The Daily Standard's mustachioed sportswriter prognosticator, Stuart McGhee, has taken over the lead in the overall best percentage after a 7- 8 mark last week to edge out the season long leader, Danny Summerfield by one percentage point, 84.1 to 83.1.

But the real story connected to last week's guessing game was the eight of eight performance of the old pro, who has been the only guesser to stick his head out for the upset all season long and called four of seven on the year. His mark jumped to 78.5 with a 51- 65 average. A mark that would have been a lot better had he not tried to back the Bulldogs so much.

Here are the season averages as we move into the ninth week of action:

David Ziegenhorn		7- 10	70%
Tony Ford		33- 45	73.3%
Billy Harrison	0- 1	7- 11	63.6%
Eddie Smart	7- 0	26- 38	68.4%
Bobby Gentry	7- 9	47- 65	72.3%
Scott Marlin	6- 8	40- 55	72.7%
Mike Gentry	7- 8	49- 65	75.4%
Jerry Gentry	7- 8	49- 65	75.4%
John Greer	7- 8	51- 65	78.5%
Ron Jaynes	8- 8	51- 65	78.5%
Dianne Ezzell	7- 8	52- 64	81.2%
Danny Summerfield	6- 8	54- 65	83.1%
Stuart McGhee	7- 8	53- 63	84.1%

Basketball steps into the picture tonight and will be even more prevailent next week as the footballers close out their regular season schedules.

Mr. Basketball, Bill Harrison, our righthand man around the sports department has offered his first predictions for the season...We'll have them for you right after we review the football guesses.

Our regular staff has again offered their predictions. Venturing guesses this week are Dianne Ezzell, Stuart McGhee, Bobby Gentry, Jerry Gentry, Mike Gentry, John Greer, Danny Summerfield, Eddie Smart and the old pro.

The panel had very few different views as to the winners this week. As a matter of fact, the only game they differed on was the Charleston- Cape clash.

Danny, John and Dianne already have one miss going into tonight's schedule as the Benglas made rather easy work of the Jays.

Poplar Bluff, Jackson, Dexter, East Prairie, Illmo-Scott City, Doniphan, Union City, Tenn., and Caruthersville were unanimous picks of the panel to record wins. But look for the surprise Portageville upset of the Rams.

In basketball, Wild Bill has gone with Twin Rivers, Meadow Heights, Puxico, Zalma, Senath- Hornersville, Clearwater and Leadwood and predicts a 100 percent average...But I disagree with the expert on one game...Van Buren will take the Royals.

Join with us next week....try your luck with next Friday's cage games...

Here's Bill's guesses:
Matthews 70, Risco 68
Twin Rivers 65, Van Buren 60
Meadow Heights 68, Marquand 59
Puxico 70, Delta 57
Zalma 62, Bell City 55
Senath 85, Holcomb 50
Clearwater 80, Greenville 56
Leadwood 72, Ellington 50

Hockey interest grows

The sport of ice hockey is not too well known in this area, but for some it has a special meaning.

Jim Elliott, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Crosno of Morehouse and nephew of Mrs. Wanda Dillon and Mrs. Helen Hensley of Sikeston, has recently been selected to play ice hockey for the Semi-Pro Canadian Junior "A" Hockey Team being formed in St. Louis for boys ranging in age from 15 to 18 with a "B" average in school.

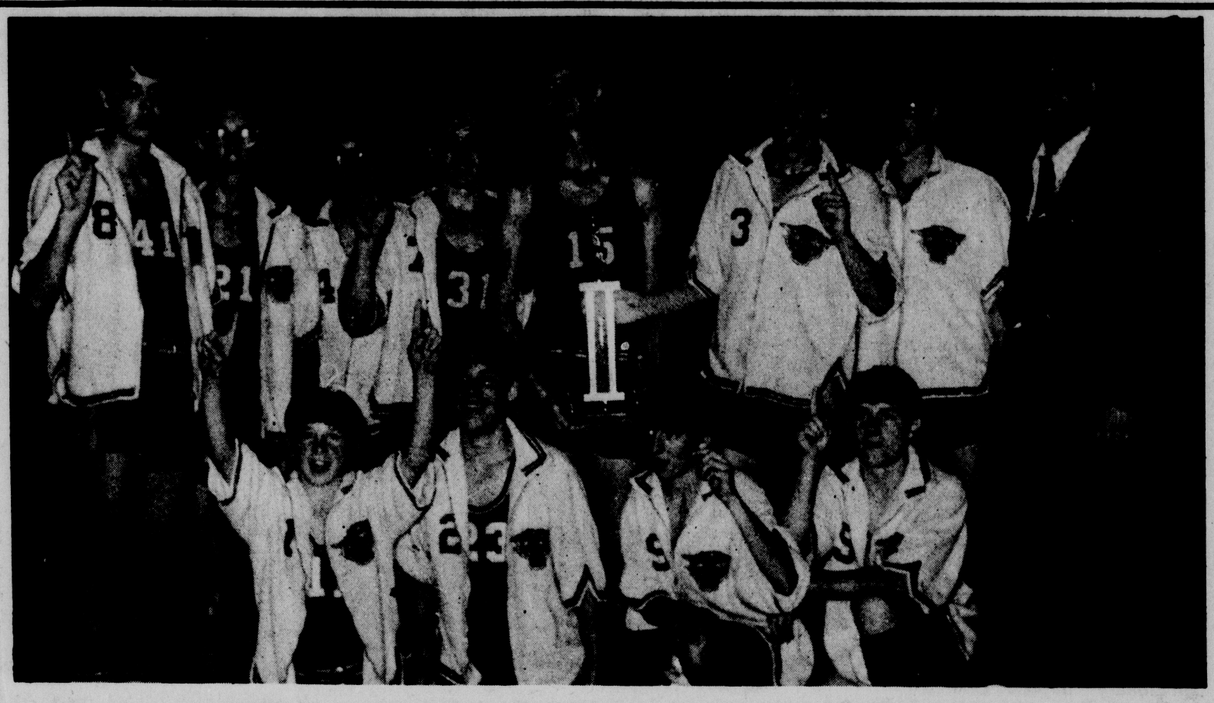

Junior "A"hockey comes under the jurisdiction of the NHL Association, and when the boys become of age they are eligible for the expansion draft of the NHL or playing college hockey.

The schedule for the first year will be 40 games of which 20 will be played in St. Louis and 20 games away - in Canada, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, New Hampshire, Illinois, Indiana, and several teams throughout the Chicago area including the Chicago Minor Black Hawks.

Jim has been active in ice hockey in the St. Louis area for the past five years having received many trophies for outstanding performances on the ice, and last year scored the most goals and had the most assists in the St. Louis High School Club Hockey League of which 28 teams participated. Jim was also one of the top scorers as a member of the Mid- America Hockey traveling team of St. Louis last year that ranked third in the Nationals in their age group.

Bengals tame Jays

By DIANNE EZZELL

CAPE CENTRAL-- When you're hot, you're hot; and when you're not, you're not.

Through the first seven games of the season, the Charleston Blue Jays were as hot as they come. The past two weeks the Jays have run into two teams determined to cool them off, and that is exactly what Poplar Bluff did last week and Cape Central did Thursday night, defeating CHS 28- 14.

On the first play of the game, J. J. Black was injured when attempting to make a tackle and was unable to play the remainder of the first half. With Black out of the line up the Jays definitely suffered, but the outstanding running of Greg Johnson kept them close.

After Cape Central failed to move the ball in the first series of downs, they punted to Charleston and Charlie Glenn fumbled on Charleston's 34 yard line. Cape moved in to score with Steve C. Taylor and Bill Seabaugh being the big gainers. Seabaugh carried the ball over from the nine yard line and Jeff Hutton booted the extra point to give Cape a 7- 0 lead in the first quarter.

After Charleston failed to move the ball in four downs, Cape Central drove 77 yards with Bill Seabaugh passing to a wide open Don Gross for a 54 yard touchdown. Hutton missed the extra point.

Charleston started to move the ball late in the first quarter and continued to drive in the second quarter as they drove 65 yards in 14 plays to score. Kent Sutherland plunged over from the one yard line and Greg Johnson scored the two point conversion to make the score 13- 8 late in the second quarter.

After exchanging punts, Tim Vickery returned a Delay punt 40 yards and Taylor broke loose for 31 and 13 yard gallops to score Cape's third touchdown of the first half. Taylor ran the ball over for the two point conversion and Cape had a 21- 8 half time lead.

Charleston started a drive in the third quarter that consumed nearly eight minutes of the quarter only to fumble and give Cape the ball on their own 25 yard line. With the line backers shooting the gaps, Steve C. Taylor slipped through the line and raced 75 yards for his second touchdown of the evening. The extra point by Hutton gave Cape a 28- 8 lead that they were never to relenquish.

After an exchange of punts during the remainder of the third and most of the fourth quarters, Charleston started to drive. Donnie Hatchell, on a halfback option, threw to Charlie Glenn for a 19 yard gain. Delay then passed to Alfred Marshall for a 15 yard gain. On the next play Delay found Ralph Mitchell all alone in the end zone for a thirty yard scoring play. The two point conversion failed and the Tigers held on to win 28- 14.

The leading ground gainer for the Blue Jays was J. J. Black who managed to carry the ball 19 times in the second half for 73 yards. Steve C. Taylor led all rushers with 197 yards in 19 carries.

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)— The U. S.- Soviet Union track meet will be held next July 5- 6 in Durham, Ollan Cassell said Thursday.

Cassell, executive director of the Amateur Athletic Union, held a news conference on the meet after returning from a trip to Russia to work on detailed plans for the meet.

Cassell said he was confident that international tensions will not affect the meet, which is scheduled to be held in Duke University's Wallace Wade Stadium.

The Russians won both the men's and women's competition this year in the Soviet Union.

LOS ANGELES (AP)— The Los Angeles Rams had 15,376 unsold tickets Thursday, meaning their National Football League game Sunday against New Orleans will not be shown locally on television.

A sellout 72 hours prior to the kickoff is required to lift the local TV blackout.

RAMONA, Calif. (AP)— A reunion of Davis Cup champions will bring together this weekend Jack Kramer, Ellsworth Vines, Gardner Mulloy, Bobby Riggs, Tony Trabert and others.

After some informal matches at San Diego Country Estates, "the outstanding Davis Cup player" will be announced.

The first woman tennis pro, Eleanor "Teach" Tennant, will be given a special award.

Series payoff

NEW YORK (AP) — When the Oakland A's won the World Series in 1972, they pocketed about $20,000 apiece. For doing the same thing this year, they each came away with better than $24,000.

That's inflation for you.

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn released the World Series shares Thursday with the A's victory over New York worth a record $24,760.87 per man and the losing Mets getting $14,980.18 apiece.

The biggest payoff pool in World Series history resulted from record attendances for the five-game National and American League playoffs as well as the Series. The combined total attendance was 643,641.

The total player purse was $1,992,461.17 with receipts for World Series and league championship series reaching $5,337,281.25. The commissioner's office and both league offices share in the receipts as well as the participating World Series clubs and the first three finishers in each of baseball's four divisions.

The Mets voted 34 full shares, the largest total of any of the 12 teams that receive World Series money. Oakland awarded 27 full shares.

Among the New York cuts was a full share voted to the Shea Stadium ground crew. The Mets also voted half shares of $7,475.08 apiece to Jim Fregosi and Phil Hennigan, who both left the club in July, and John Strohmayer, a relief pitcher who made only seven appearances and pitched 10 innings after coming to the Mets to replace Hennigan. Jim Gosger, a veteran outfielder who spent a couple of mid-summer months with the Mets, batting .239 in 37 games, received a one-third share of $4,983.39.

The Mets also voted $100 apiece to several players who joined the club late in the season. Included in that group was rookie pitcher Bob Apodaca, who pitched in only one game, walking the only two batters he faced, and journeyman pitcher Bob Miller, a Met original who was purchased from Detroit and appeared in only one game, pitching just one inning.

Performance must have played a major part in the thinking of Oakland's players when they cut up the Series pool. Jesus Alou and Vic Davalillo both came to the A's from the National League on the same day. Alou batted .306 in 36 games and was voted onehalf share of $12,380.43. Davalillo batted .188 in 37 games and got one-third share of $8,253.62.

Among other Oakland cuts were a one-quarter share of $6,190.22 for Mike Andrews, who became the center of Series controversy when owner Charles O. Finley tried to place him on the disabled list following a pair of crucial errors, and $2,476.09 for Allan Lewis, the A's designated runner, who appeared in 35 games during the season without ever going to bat.

Bowl talk

NEW ORLEANS (AP)— Second- ranked Alabama will meet No. 5 Notre Dame in the Sugar Bowl while seventh- ranked Louisiana State will take on No. 6 Penn State in the Orange Bowl, The Associated Press has learned.

However, the plans would be scuttled if Notre Dame turns down a challenge by Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant to play his Crimson Tide in the Sugar Bowl.

Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian said Thursday: "Right now, our primary job is to get ready for our game with Pittsburgh" Saturday. "We're honored by the fact that they (Alabama) want to play us and by the fact they consider us as solid competition."

Notre Dame and Alabama have never played each other, and it was reported unofficially that the Notre Dame players, who have never been in the Sugar Bowl, want to play Alabama.

Alabama's last appearance in the New Orleans bowl was in 1967 when it beat Nebraska 347.

Soon after word of the virtually certain Sugar Bowl match, LSU voted Thursday to play "an opponent which has at this time a higher rating in the wire service poll." The only eligible opponent ranked higher than the Tigers "at this time" is Penn State.

Cards sign free agent

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Clancy Oliver, 25, a free agent signed by the St. Louis Cardinals to shore up the National Football League team's injury-depleted defensive backfield, may see some action in Sunday's game against the Green Bay Packers at Green Bay, according to Coach Don Coryell.

The Cardinals announced the signing of Oliver Thursday.

The 6-foot-1, 185-pound Oliver, a product of San Diego State, has been a free agent since he was released in August by the San Diego Chargers.

The Cardinals, 3-4-1 in the NFL's National Conference East, have lost veteran cornerback Roger Wehrli for three or four weeks with a knee injury suffered last week against the Denver Broncos.

Big weekend in college FB

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan State's chances of defeating top-ranked, unbeaten Ohio State Saturday and registering a major college football upset for the third year in a row were all but dashed last week when three key offensive players were sidelined with injuries.

However, Michigan State Coach Dennis Stolz is quick to explain the formidable Spartan defense was responsible for the two upsets.

Ohio State, 7-0, has given up only two touchdowns and 20 points in two games. The steamrolling Buckeye rushing attack which has averaged 372 yards a game is spearheaded by tailback Archie Griffin, who has dashed for 888 yards, and quarterback Cornelius Greene, who has rushed for 574.

Michigan State, 3-5, will be without quarterback Charlie Baggett, center Charlie Ane and tackle Phil Smolinski, all of whom underwent surgery and are lost for the season.

Third-ranked Oklahoma, paced by quarterback Steve Davis and running back Joe Washington, risks its undefeated record against No. 10 Missouri. The Sooners are 6-0-1 while the Tigers are 7-1.

Fifth-ranked Notre Dame, 70, has been offered a chance to play second-ranked Alabama in the Sugar Bowl, but the only game Fighting Irish Coach Ara Parseghian is concerned about is Saturday's clash with No. 20 Pittsburgh.

The Crimson Tide voted Thursday to go to the Sugar Bowl with the intention of playing Notre Dame.

An offensive battle is expected when No. 6 Penn State, 8-0, faces unranked North Carolina State. The Nittany Lions have averaged 39 points a game and are 11th in the nation in total offense while North Carolina State has averaged 32.9 points a contest and is 15th in overall offense.

The eighth-ranked Southern California Trojans, 6-1-1, on the heels of a 50-14 romp over California last weekend are rated 25-point favorites to defeat Stanford. The game between No. 9 UCLA, 7-1, and Oregon will match the Pacific-8 Conference's two leading rushers. Kermit Alexander of UCLA has bolted for 827 yards while Don Reynolds of Oregon has run for 802.

General Baptists to keep headquarters in P. Bluff

POPLAR BLUFF— It's official now, Poplar Bluff has been selected as the national headquarters for the General Baptist Church.

The announcement was made at the Chamber of Commerce's noon luncheon meeting Monday by Dr. Kenneth R. Kennedy, the denomination's executive secretary.

This decision means that the present General Baptist facilities will be expanded to include construction of a new headquarters building on property owned by the denomination just north of the city limits.

Though the General Baptists have maintained offices here since 1938, there was some speculation that the headquarers might be moved elsewhere for the proposed expansion.

Smiling, Dr. Kennedy notified the chamber that the vote of the denomination's hierarchy was almost unanimous to remain in Poplar Bluff.

Commenting on the length of time it took to make the decision, Dr. Kennedy joked that it was "hard to get Baptists to agree on anything."

The new headquarters building will be built on a 14.6- acre tract located on Highway 67 North near the Knob television tower. The land was purchased in 1971.

Target date for the start of construction, according to Dr. Kennedy, is April 1, 1975. "We have made no contracts as yet," Dr. Kennedy said, "but I'm sure we will select a local builder."

Initial building construction will cover 15,000 square feet, Kennedy said. The new facilities will house all, or most of the denominational offices with additional office space for expansion of the organization. It will include a chapel, board meeting room and storage and work area.

Local offices of the denomination include that of the executive secretary, Foreign Mission Board, Home Mission Board, Women's Mission Board and the Board of Christian Education and Publications. The General Baptist Press is also located here, but there are no current plans of moving it from its current location on Highway 67 South near the General Baptist Book Store, which will also remain at the same location.

Dr. Kennedy expressed his appreciation for the work done by the local Chamber of Commerce and Poplar Bluff Industries to help insure a favorable Poplar Bluff vote by the denomination's board.

"We are very happy with the decision," Kennedy remarked. "We like Poplar Bluff. We feel it is our kind of town."

Dr. Kennedy, a native of the Gideon area, has served in his present capacity here since September 1965. He succeeded Dr. J. L. Mondy, the first person to hold that title.

A minister and former missionary to the Phillippines, Dr. Kennedy and his family live on Route Three.

The General Baptists came here in 1938, relocating their printing interest from Owensville, Ind. In 1948 a used press was purchased and located in an old church building on North Main Street. Later, in 1953, it was moved to its current location on Highway 67 South.

The bookstore building on Highway 67 was erected in 1960.

In 1959, the General Baptist denomination conceived the office of denominational executive secretary and set up headquarters, or its national denominational office, here. The first office was located in the press building.

The office continued to be in the press building until July 1966 when a building, formerly housing the King of Clubs tavern, was leased. The extructure was remodeled and denominational offices that were being added to the operation were housed there.

This building was purchased in 1972 and further remodeled to serve as the General Baptist headquarters building.

Scripture: Romans 12:14-13:14

Living Victoriously In Society

It has been said that the business of the church is to mobilize its spiritual power to solve our social and economic problems.

The Christian gospel demands a divine-human response to others as well as to conflict. And the gospel of Christ calls believers to bear the evil of others.

In these verses in Romans Paul returns to his roll of teaching. He is following the examples set forth by Christ, who proclaimed the gospel with an emphasis on the teaching roll.

There are many modern-day problems available for discussion in Paul's comments today.

"Rejoice with those who rejoice, weep with those who weep." Voltaire said that "Tears are the silent language of grief." And Charles Dickens added that "Heaven knows we need never be ashamed of our tears."

A man who is full of love for all things in the world is happy. Plato thought that happiness is gained by the right use of the things of life.

"Live in harmony with one another; do not be haughty, but associate with the lowly: never be conceited." Paul proclaimed.

This, obviously, is easier to say than to accomplish Christians are not to avenge themselves and are not to repay evil for evil.

Apparently, much of what Paul says here came from the Sermon on the Mount, yet scholars are not sure whether Paul ever saw or heard Jesus. Certainly Paul must have heard these comments from the famous sermon by Christ.

Similar admonitions are heard from the other gospel writers. Yet even in Paul's day it was a challenge for one to conquer his enemies through love.

Nevertheless, our society too often resorts to the "getting even" concept--in the business world, in our political campaigns, and too frequently in our day-to-day activities.

Probably the most discussed of Paul's comments is his command to "let every person be subject to the governing authorities. For there is no authority except from God, and those that exist have been instituted by God."

Paul's advice is to respectfully submit to civil authorities on the basis that secular authorities would not exist at all apart from divine permission.

Paul does not bestow any deity standing upon the emperor. The Roman authorities, however, did provide a stabilizing influence upon the world. They often provided good roads that were used by the early Christians to spread the teachings of Jesus.

Without government there would be anarchy. Paul realized that a solid government is needed for Christianity to flourish. We have seen the problems of government-religious relationships in today's society.

The structures of society should be designed for the service of humanity in a manner consistent with God's will. In the normal course of life in the world conflict can be expected.

It has been said that "Government is no other than the soul of a city or nation." Our study of history reveals that men usually call upon God when they form a government.

Machiavelli in 1519 said, "If the Christian religion had from the beginning been maintained according to the principles of its founder, the Christian states and republics would have been much more united and happy than what they are."

What, then, can we do in a secular society to create a more Christian-like attitude?

We can seek and achieve more wholesome relationships with those about us, our family, neighbors, and others.

We are to let God handle the situations in which we have been wronged. It is not for us to return evil for evil.

We are to serve the authorities and by our own example make our government one that Paul would approve.

Many new sidewalks were ordered constructed by the city council at its regular monthly meeting Monday. A new walk was ordered west of the Peoples Bank on West Center street; on the east side of North Kingshighway, north of the residence of Dr. Adams' home; on Delmar north of Prosperity from Hahs Machine Works to the railroad; on the east side of Park avenue; and north of College.

Networks announce new shows

NEW YORK (AP) — It's only November but the ax already is falling on this season's new TV shows. The latest to get cancellation notices are "Calucci's Dept." and "Roll Out."

The notices from CBS brass bring to four the number of new programs canceled so far. ABC already has axed "Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice," while CBS last week said it was folding the "New Perry Mason" series and replacing it Feb. 10 with "Apple's Way."

That series, created by Earl Hamner, author of the toprated "Waltons," is about a successful Los Angeles architect who gives up the good life there and returns with his family to live in his home town of Appleton, Iowa.

ABC is filling its "Bob & Carol" time slot with movies until Nov. 28, when it starts running the first of five Wednesday night Dick Clark minispecials on the golden era of rock 'n' roll.

CBS says "Calucci" is being replaced by "Dirty Sally," a comedy Western, and "Roll OUt" by "Great Day," a black situation comedy set in a Chicago ghetto. The changes will be made in early January.

An interesting note on "Airport," the blockbuster 1970 movie ABC-TV is airing Sunday night: The Airline Pilots Association isn't raising cain with ABC for showing the thing.

The film's various characters include a loonie who boards an airliner, intending to blow up the plane in flight so his wife can collect insurance money.

The ALPA objected to this when "Airport" was made, contending that the make-believe drama might prompt deranged persons to try it in real life, an ALPA spokesman said.

However, when asked if his group had lodged a similar protest with ABC about the movie, he said there wouldn't be any.

"Very frankly," he said, "the thing we've decided to do is to keep quiet about it because it (a protest) only serves to heighten interest in the film."

This approach sharply contrasts with one of nearly seven years ago, when ALPA blasted NBC for showing "Doomsday Flight," a made-for-TV movie by Rod Serling that focused on an extortion plot against an airline.

NBC, which ran the movie on Dec. 13, 1966, decided against ever repeating it after getting heavy protests from pilots and others. Serling subsequently said he regretted the film even was made.

"Doomsday" was shown well before the strict passenger checks now common at U.S. airports went into effect.

Prayer for today

from the Upper Room

What's the law?

The case of the two-faced action

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

What Alvin liked most about girls were his arms. And to achieve that goal, he'd even talk about marriage. But like the stuttering preacher, he never married in haste. In fact, he had no intention of marrying at all. Consequently, after seducing Hilda, one moonlight night, and then refusing to marry her, Alvin found himself being sued by her for assault and battery.

"The only reason I was chased and caught," complained Hilda in court, "was because Alvin tricked and deceived me. His talk about us going to see a minister was just a lot of soft soap made of lye."

"I never assaulted a girl in my life," was Alvin's defense. "The fact of the matter is, when I started to kiss Hilda, she enjoyed it as much as I did. It was a mutually agreeable two-faced action. So how could it be an assault and battery?"

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make Alvin pay for assault and battery?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that when a woman knowlingly becomes a party to a display of affection, her consent prevents her from complaining that she has been assaulted. And, in this case, noted the judge, Hilda advanced no protests to Alvin's advances.

INVISIBLE RESIDENTS
by Ivan T. Sanderson
(Avon 15511/$.95
248pp.)

"I contend that if we will only stick to being logical, there is no reason

(a) why there could not be an extremely advanced civilization under water

(b) why it might not be up to twice as old as ours

(c) why it should not have developed what we call 'space flight'

(d) why it should not be so far in advance of us technically that we would never have noticed it until we started to develop a few really sensitive gadgets."

Ivan T. Sanderson makes the startling statements above in his book INVISIBLE RESIDENTS, now a paperback available from Avon, and he offers extensive material to justify these statements. The many sightings of lighted objects rising from, hovering over, and descending to waters are among the data Sanderson considers in this study of the possibility of advanced ancient civilizations living beneath our waters.

Scientists have found that everybody dreams four to six times a night. Each dream lasts between 15 and 20 minutes.

Inflation hasn't changed the price of ashes.
But it has changed the price of your home. For example, if you bought a $20,000 home in 1968—today it's worth about $27,000. Don't be left with a costly pile of ashes. See me about a State Farm Homeowners Policy that will cover your home for all it's worth . . . and keep it that way with automatic Inflation Coverage.

November 15th: Do you have what it takes to speculate in commodity futures

Come to our next Merrill Lynch Forum and find out.

Commodity futures speculation isn't for the faint-hearted. Or for small investors seeking maximum return with minimum risk.

But if you're the kind of man who has the intellectual discipline to outline a trading plan and stick to it, and the financial strength to back-up that plan with a sizable amount of risk capital, speculating may be for you.

At the Forum we'll tell you how commodities like silver, potatoes, and corn are traded as futures. Why commodity futures speculating offers more leverage than any other organized form of trading. Merrill Lynch's 9 rules for successful commodity futures speculation. Common mistakes to avoid. How to get started. And more.

The forum is free. But space is limited. So reserve your seats now. Call. Or mail the coupon. But come.

- Thursday, November 15th, 7:30 p.m.

At the Ramada Inn, Interstate 55 & Highway 62, Sikeston, Illinois.

For reservations call 314-862-5800.

Motorists urged to turn on lights

JEFFERSON CITY-- Col. Sam S. Smith, superintendent of the Missouri Highway Patrol, today urged motorists to turn on their vehicles' headlights at twilight for added safety.

"Twilight creates special visibility hazards to drivers," Smith pointed out. "Sharp line and color contrasts which make objects readily visible in the daytime are not easily seen during this time of the day. It has been found, however, that cars are better seen at twilight with their headlights on. I urge drivers, therefore, to turn on their low beam headlights while traveling during the hours of twilight so that other drivers, as well as pedestrians, can be more aware of their presence on the streets and highways."

The patrol superintendent emphasized that headlights, NOT parking, lights should be turned on at twilight. Parking lights do little good in helping a vehicle to be seen moving down a highway. Low beam headlights, not parking lights, should be used at twilight.

"The shorter hours of daylight during this time of the year will find many motorists on the road at twilight," Smith continued. "I urge them to turn their vehicles' headlights on low beam so they can be better seen by others and thus add to their safety at twilight."

PAUL REVERE'S SECOND RIDE .. was through the streets of Sikeston ... He came upon a well kept 1 1/2 story home nestled on a corner lot in the heart of town. He didn't even need his horse because he could walk to downtown or the shopping center in five minutes. As he entered the front foyer, you could hear him cheering to the spaciousness of the living room and dining room. The kitchen would accommodate the supplies for his army of men. The master bedroom also on the first floor with its own bath would have impressed the greatest of generals. From here he raced up the steps to find three bedrooms and another bath which he quickly visualized as a cozy resting place for his men. In the full basement he found it to be clean and dry and certainly adequate to store his ammunition or as a recreational room for his men. Paul Revere's only problem now is to convert British pounds into 24,000 American dollars.

Traffic to be rerouted

The Missouri State Highway Department has announced that traffic on the uncompleted 13- mile section of Interstate - 55 between Hayti and Steele will be rerouted from its present position on Route 61 to the newly constructed northbound lane of I-55.

This rerouting will permit the contractor, R. B. Potashnick, and his subcontractors to proceed with the work necessary to bring the existing southbound lane (Route 61) to interstate standards. Work to be done includes bridge widening and replacement, resurfacing, and shouldering.

To accomplish the switch, all four lanes will be temporarily opened on Nov. 15 to allow the contractor to construct median crossovers to the new northbound lane.

After completion of the crossovers, southbound traffic will be switched to the northbound lane, making it two- way. Work will then begin on the old southbound lanes.

The public is being urged by the highway department to exercise caution when driving through the construction area as all work is not complete and men and equipment will be working adjacent to the roadway.

Peace plan hits a snag

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The U.S. Government reported today that Israel and Egypt had agreed to a new six-point plan designed to firm up the Middle East cease-fire and to bring about full peace negotiations soon. But a hitch apparently developed in Israel.

There, Premier Golda Meir called a special meeting of her Cabinet to discuss what an official described as a last-minute snag over the U.S. plan.

Shortly before the announcement, Israel said Egyptian missiles had shot down an Israeli reconnaissance plane, shelling was reported on the Syrian front and Premier Golda Meir called in the U. S. ambassador amid reports that a hitch had developed in the plan worked out to bolster the cease- fire.

There was no immediate indication of what the hitch might be but the announced agreement differed from one reported in Israel on Thursday.

The announcement of the plan said representatives of the two nations are to sign the agreement, worked out with the help of U. S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, on Saturday at a meeting on the Suez- Cairo road under U. N. auspices.

County Court to buy landfill site

BENTON — The Scott County Court voted unanimously Thursday to purchase the sanitary landfill site one mile north of Morley on Highway 61 as a landfill for Scott County residents.

The landfill site, owned by Kenneth Dement of Sikeston, was the lowest bid submitted to the court. The bid was $300 per acre for a total of 110 acres. The county has been leasing the site since Oct. 4.

Schlosser's Construction Co. of Benton submitted the only other bid. It was for 100 acres at $500 per acre. His property is located two and a half miles south of Benton.

According to Presiding Judge Les Lankford, the present landfill site would save the county money. "Approximately $13,000 has already been invested in the land by previous landowners," he remarked.

Lankford added the landfill site is already open and doesn't require any further work. "If an alternate landfill site had been chosen it would be at least 30 days before it could be put into operation," he said.

The court said at present they do not know if they will operate the landfill themselves or hire someone to do it for them.

The County Court announced Oct. 4 that it had leased the landfill for three months and would permit county residents to use it free of charge.

The Scott County Mayors Association voted Oct. 9 to recommend to the court that it purchase the present landfill site.

New Jersey woman killed

A Cherry Hill, N. J. woman was killed and four other persons were injured in two traffic accidents in the Bootheel Thursday, according to the highway patrol.

Janet Galasso, 22, died in the emergency room of Doctors Hospital in Poplar Bluff a short time after a two- car accident occurred at 7:30 p.m. on Highway 67 at Neelyville.

The patrol said Miss Galasso was attempting to make a left turn when a car driven by Bernard Zeisset, 33, of Trenton, Ill. attempted to pass her car and struck it in the side, causing her car to overturn.

The body was taken to Cottrell Funeral Home in Poplar Bluff.

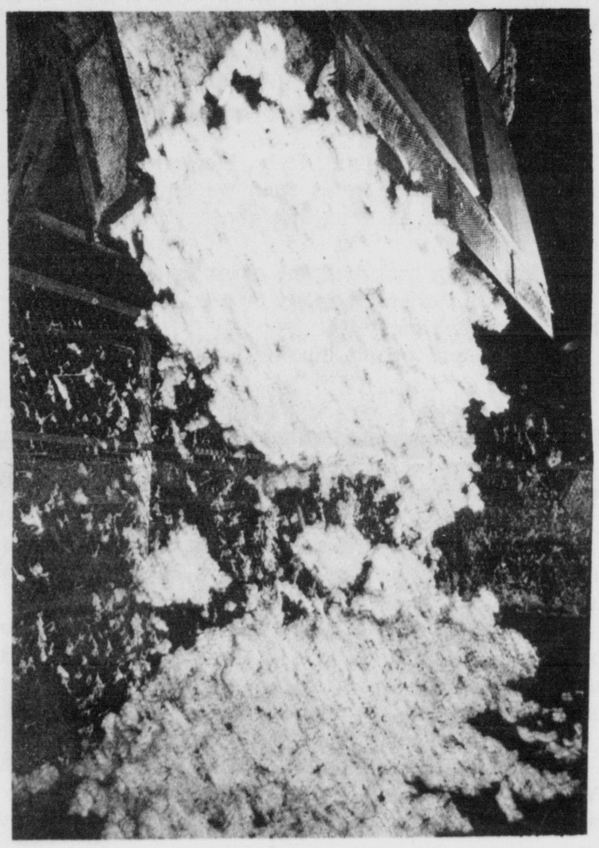

Zeisset suffered a minor injury and a passenger in his car, Jimmy Leach, received serious injuries. Both were taken to Doctors Hospital in Poplar Bluff.

Ladonna Faye Duke, 22, of East Prairie was injured at 8 p.m. Thursday on Highway 80 six miles east of East Prairie when she lost control of her car, ran off the road and struck a culvert.

Police join computer network

The police department today announced that the police computer terminal has now been tied into a computer network encompassing eight Midwestern states.

The computer will be hooked into each state's Department of Revenue files. Within six to 10 seconds of making the request, police will be able to receive information on automobile ownership, vehicle identification, license plates and driver's license status from the states, police said.

States included in the network are Missouri, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, and Kentucky.

In addition, police will also be able to send administrative messages direct to the states. Currently, messages must be sent to Phoenix, Ariz. and then relayed. The process now takes from one to five hours.

Funds being raised

Fetal monitor system needed at hospital

Only one fourth of the total funds needed for a fetal monitor system at Missouri Delta Community Hospital remains to be collected.

Dr. Leandro Cejas, who has been trying for five years to acquire the system for the hospital, said recently that donations from private citizens and organizations for the $13,360 system are nearing $10,000.

The system would give doctors some warning of developing fetal distress, and would help the present nursing personnel give better care of patients in labor, Dr. Cejas said.

He explained that there are factors during pregnancy, at the time of delivery, and during the first 28 days of life that are associated with cerebral damage. These factors in one way or another may deprive the fetal or newborn brain of oxygen and lead to brain damage. Thus adequate prenatal, delivery and post partum care of the newborn are essential to decrease the incidence of cerebral damage and other birth defects, he explained.

Even healthy pregant patients can experience complications that cause fetal distress, Dr. Cejas said, and by monitoring the fetus during labor, and later on the prematurely born baby, doctors can provide the means for early identification of possible problems which can then be followed by intervention and suitable treatment to minimize the occurrence of brain damage in many instances.

Studies in 24.853 pregnancies in 15 university centers corraborated the fact that 50 per cent of uncomplicated pregnancies develop some sort of difficulties during labor and delivery. Some difficulties are minor and self corrected and even undetected by the untrained personnel. Some others are major problems, Dr. Cejas explained, and unless corrected or adequate intervention achieved in proper time the problem may persist and later produce irreparable damage in the newborn.

Since the nursing availability and anesthesia coverage, not only here but in most parts of the country, does not allow enough help and time in some circumstances to prevent these conditions, the electronic equipment for which donations are being collected is needed at the Missouri Delta Community Hospital, he said.

With the machine, in some cases surgery can be prevented by correcting by other means circumstances that are producing fetal distress. In other circumstances fetal damage can be prevented by acting in time, which otherwise would not have been possible with present means, he explained. With use of the system, a distress may even be detected that would have caused the baby's death.

So far, such specialized facilities are available only in major medical centers but many doctors are promoting the development of such centers in smaller communties, taking into consideration that time, in many instances, is essential in the prevention of conditions that could lead to brain damage.

The fetal monitor system can prevent mental retardation as caused by the failure of the fetus to receive enough oxygen. Mental retardation can be caused by some 200 pathological conditions, many of which doctors can try to prevent by modern technology.

Dr. Cejas explained that the mentally retarded are children and adults who from birth or childhood show significant impairment in intelligence and equally severe difficulties in adapting to the demands of their daily environment.

Only 25 per cent of the mentally retarded appear different from the rest of the population. The largest number of the mentally retarded's intellectual and adaptational problems arise when abstract thinking is required, either in the process of learning or in the process of job performances.

An account for funds for the system has been opened at a local bank.

Contributions may be sent to Fetal Monitor Fund, Ferguson Medical Group, 1012 North Main, Sikeston, Missouri 63801 in care of Dr. Leandro Cejas or Dr. Joseph Blanton. Checks should be made out to the above fund, and are tax deductible.

Tax relief announced for elderly

BENTON— Scott County Assessor Bill Ferrell has announced his office has been informed by the Department of Revenue Senior Citizens Credit Group of Jefferson City that the 77th Missouri General Assembly enacted a tax relief measure to ease the property tax burden on low- income, senior citizens.

According to Ferrell, passage of the law does not relieve senior citizens of their liability to pay county and city property taxes. The act provides a credit which may be in the form of a cash refund or a deduction against Missouri state income tax liability.

To qualify the claimant or spouse must be 65 years old on or before Dec. 31, he must have been a Missouri resident for the entire 1973 calendar year, the annual household income must not exceed $7,500 and he must rent or own the home he occupied during 1973.

Claimants who meet the qualifications must complete schedule SC- Senior Citizens Income Tax Credit Claim, to determine if they are entitled to any credit or refund. If claimant and spouse are eligible to file a joint federal income tax return, only one senior citizen claim may be filed. The credit will then be allowed only on a combined Missouri income tax return or a combined claim return reporting their combined incomes and prperty tax or rent. In determining the credit or refund, property tax and rent paid will be totaled on each claim up to a maximum of $400.

If a claimant and one or more qualified individuals (not including a spouse) occupy a single home, each may be a claimant. Each individual will use only the property taxes or rent they paid in computing the allowable credit. A senior citizen claim may be filed by an estate on behalf of a deceased claimant for property taxes or rent paid by deceased or by the estate of the deceased for 1973.

If a claimant, or claimant and spouse, are not required to file a Missouri individual income tax return, a refund may be received by filling only schedule SC with the required statements attached.

If claimant, or claimant and spouse, are required to file a Missouri individual income tax return, schedule SC will be completed with the required statements, attached to Missouri individual income tax return, and the amount of senior citizen income tax credit will be claimed.

The claims must be filed by April 15, 1974.

Ferrell said if a senior citizen does not receive a Senior Citizen Income Tax Credit Claim by Jan. 1, 1974 or if additional information is needed, he should contact a local Department of Revenue branch office or write: Missouri Department of Revenue, Senior Citizen Credit Group, P. O. Box 500, Jefferson City, Mo. 65101.

According to Ferrell this is the first information anyone in the courthouse had received concerning the tax relief.

"My office has received a lot of telephone calls concerning the tax relief and it is my opinion the Department of Revenue did a poor job of informing senior citizens of the law," he remarked.

"The history of the past decade," Dr. Philip H. Abelson, president of the Carnegie Institute, is quoted as saying, "has been marked especially with increased federal government in almost every facet of our lives. There are special dangers to society in the patterns that have been developing in support of research and in support of higher education. Shortly after World War II when the government began to support fundamental research many voices of warning were raised. The dangers of government control and interference were pointed out. Initially the granting agencies and Congress were extremely careful to avoid centralized control. Today it is becoming increasingly clear that the man who pays the fiddler calls the tune. Those who staff the granting agencies are sympathetic to the needs of scientists, but the power to make policy lies with the politicians, who are increasingly exerting their authority."

YOU THINK AMERICA HAS TROUBLES? WHAT'S NIGHTMARE TO US WOULD BE UTOPIA TO THE WORLD

In much-envied Japan, the best beef costs $35 a pound; pollution is so bad in Tokyo that traffic policemen take an "oxygen break" every hour — 3 minutes of breathing bottled oxygen; their factories produce ten times the industrial waste per square mile that our factories do and 70% fail to process their waste; school children pass out after playing in the smog.

Britain, France, Spain, Italy, Demark and Finland have worse inflation rates than we do, and controls have failed. (Gasoline in one country costs $1.03 a gallon).

In Brazil less than half the cities have high schools.

In Rio de Janiero as many as 6 companies have to share one telephone.

In Cuba per capita income is down to $357 per year.

In the Congo prices have risen 90% since the late 60's and wages have risen only 40%.

In mainland China workers live in huge apartments where 6 to 12 families share one kitchen.

Calcutta has a population explosion (9 million; it was 2 million just ten years ago) because people crowd in to get factory jobs at 34 cents a day — twice the Indian national scale.

We have only 6% of the world's population but we produce and consume 30% of the world's goods and services, making us better fed, better housed, better educated, with better medical care than virtually any other people on earth.

Complacent? We'd better not be! We'd better learn how to get back to being the productive people we once were, when we were safe, and genuinely prosperous — and reasonably happy.

In these days of too many dreary newscasts and dismal headlines, it sometimes seems as if journalism's prime purpose is to give everyone a good reason for ending it all. But, in fact, the bad news is really good news.

American journalism is based on the public's right to know. The misuse of political power, crime in the streets, upswings and downturns in the economy, skyrocketing prices and taxes are things which everyone should know about for they affect our daily lives and may change them dramatically. By being aware of them in advance, we can prepare for what's ahead.

Our right to a free press must be maintained. In countries where it is controlled by the government, most of the news is good, but the way of living is as awful as can be.

According to the word we get, a voter backlash against incumbents of both parties is building up across the U. S. And resentment against all politicians is running strong.

Many Americans are fed up with the way elected officials are handling matters the public feels are more important. That includes high prices, shortages, the Watergate case, and charges against former Vice President Agnew.

If this trend continues, 1974 elections could bring a lot of changes.

MEANY QUASHES PRESS FREEDOM

Even his sometimes mildly humorous matter- of- fact bluntness will not get AFL-CIO sultan George Meany out of this one.

It happened late last month during the labor federation's national union boss get-together in Miami Beach. The effusive Meany was poised to strike out against the shady dealings in the Nixon Administration with all the vinegary language at his command ... a sure- bet newsmaker.

And then Mr. Meany made a different kind of news. He banned non-union television news cameramen from covering the convention.

Meany said his decision to throw out the newsmen who were not union members was done as a special favor for bosses of the International Alliance of Theatrical and Stage Employees, AFL-CIO, which "represents" many television cameramen and is using its every resource to deny employment to any cameraman who chooses not to belong to IATSE. (After this show of contempt for the freedom of the press, we would guess that the union officials can no longer truthfully say they really "represent" any news people - at least not any practicing newsman worth his salt.)

Gene Strul, news director of WCKT, the NBC affiliate in Miami, was quoted afterwards in the New York Times, as calling Meany's action "unusual and discriminatory." It obviously was much more than that because it cut right at the fiber of our vigorous, free press by denying newsmen access to the news. As the Times later said editorially, "Censorship by union card is no more tolerable than any other brand."

Meany's action affected all Americans. It was most directly a slap in the face to the journalistic profession, which for more years than we can remember has been giving Mr. Meany a sounding- board for his rantings and ravings.

This year, in the sunshine of Right to Work state Florida — where TV cameramen and all other workers are free to join or refrain from joining Mr. Meany's unions — George Meany wasn't quite his funny old- self. In fact, this year, he showed himself as a pitiful old war-lord willing to go to any lengths to promote the thing he loves best — compulsory unionism.

He's been putting on his annual carnival in Miami Beach now for many years. He knows very well that the Constitution of the State of Florida says that union membership cannot be required of any worker in that state.

In all his blusteriness about Administration wrongdoing, what made Mr. Meany think he could stand there and blatantly defy the laws of the sovereign state of Florida?

SPAINHOWER'S GOOD STEWARDSHIP

State Treasurer James I. Spainhower has compiled a commendable record in his first six months in office, particularly in his administration of $50 million in idle funds.

Spainhower has spread deposits statewide, putting money in 327 banks in 89 counties and the City of St. Louis. Most of the money is earning Missouri taxpayers 7 per cent interest.

Deposits are being made on a formula which returns to counties an amount proportionate to the total paid to the state in income and sales taxes.

Spainhower chooses banks for deposits not on basis of favoritism, but on the bank's own willingness to maintain a loan- deposit rate of 5 per cent, plus payment of the maximum rate of interest allowed by law. The 50 per cent rate means 50 cents must be loaned for each dollar deposited.

On the whole, Spainhower's stewardship has been meticulously good.

CRUDE OIL IS STORED IN UNDERWATER TANK

Phillips Norway Group, an affiliate of Phillips Petroleum Co., Bartlesville, Okla., is employing a new concept in offshore storage of crude oil — an underwater tank.

The mammoth tank, capable of storing a million barrels of crude oil, will rest on the sea floor in 235 feet of water and extend 65 feet above the water's surface. In all, the tank will be 295 feet from top to bottom - as tall as a 19-story office building.

Designed by a French company, the tank uses a patented energy- absorbing breakwater design, consisting of an inner, crude- containing section roughly 175 square feet in area surrounded by a perforated wall measuring 302 square feet. Perforated partition walls join the two sections. The performations help absorb wave energy against the structure by allowing sea water to flow into the water - filled space between the inner and outer walls.

The Phillips group has given special consideration to pollution control in all aspects of its activities in the North Sea. Several safety features have included in the storage tank design to protect against pollution. A water tank being built into the roof of the tank will provide a means of oil/water separation so that no oil will be discharged into the surrounding sea. The oil storage section of the tank is completely isolated from the sea, and, in the event of a ship-storage tank collision, the thick outer breakwater affords maximum protection for the storage compartments.

DESPITE WATERGATE FREEDOM OF PRESS IS UNDER ATTACK

Even as the journalism fraternity is congratulaing itself on its exposure of the Watergate mess and the administration, is to put it mildly, on the defensive because of it, comes a warning that government activities continue to threaten freedom of the press, in the wildest meaning of the term.

Government measures attacking the economic capability of the television networks are just as much as a threat to journalistic freedom as efforts to stifle free expression says Robert W. Sarnoff, chairman of RCA.

And "an attack on one news medium," he warns, "Is an attack on all."

In his own medium, he told a recent NBC Television Network Affiliates convention in Los Angeles, the attack is in the form of attempts to weaken the economic structure of networking under the pretext of "localism" which, he says, could impede the flow of independent information to the people.

He is not, he says, suggesting that the government has adopted such a design. "But I am concerned that an atmosphere has developed where networks are perceived as fair game.

In noncommercial television, he says, we have been witnessing another variation. There, the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, controlled directly by government appointees, has been dismantling national news and public affairs programming.

As for the broader threat to journalistic freedom, Sarnoff cites the "unprecedented spectacle" of high federal officials attacking the national news media in general, the increasingly common device of subjecting investigative reporters to subpoenas and the threat of jail sentences and the use of official secrecy as a cloak for official mistakes and derelictions.

"Whichever of these different means of suppression is employed, the effect is to deprive the public of what it needs to know in a free society," he says.

"What the government wants is a tamed press," alleges Sarnoff, and its efforts to make the news media docile and accommodating rely heavily on the technique of intimidation."

But he adds, "This technique works only against those who are willing to be timid."

There is little doubt that we are becoming highly specialized in almost every field of human endeavor. It is one of our strengths. Unfortunately, it's also one of our weaknesses.

The man who devoted his entire time and effort to one particular kind of problem develops special skills and knowledge which make him an expert in that particular area. Without exposure to other concerns, however, he may also develop "tunnel vision." Tunnel vision, says the Wall Street Journal, prevents executives from seeing beyond the special problems of their own departments. It results in a "narrow, one- sided, inflexible view."

It's a common ailment — even among otherwise competent leaders. Most managers or supervisors get their start, of necessity, in one specialty or another. The tendency - at the bottom of the ladder - is for people to know more and more about less and less. Unfortunately, the more knowledgeable some individuals become in their own work, the more all- important it becomes, in their way of thinking, and less sensitive they are to the viewpoints of people in other departments.

How does a manager widen his own viewpoint and that of the people under him? The best way is by recognizing the dangers of "tunnel vision" and fighting against it from the very start. He uses every possible contact to broaden his point of view and to understand the problems of the other departments and the business as a whole.

He doesn't build a fence around his department. He makes an effort to understand the jobs of other executives and what their departments are trying to accomplish.

He doesn't automatically take issue with everything they say, and act as if their work is in competition with his own. Nor does he respond in kind when the other fellow does something shortsighted.

He also makes a real effort to see where his activity fits in the overall picture. He knows that many problems cut across organization lines - what's best for his section or department may not always be what's best for the company as a whole. He appreciates the difference between a department and company point of view.

You'll seldom find him mistaking his corner of the office for the whole building.

VICTORY IN CHILE

Chile now has a chance of becoming again the Latin American nation with the best record of republican government. The overthrow of Salvadore Allende, the Marxist leader who was allowing and encouraging the establishment of a communist dictatorship, makes it possible for Chile to return to freedom and government by the people. Under communism there was no possibility.

The new middle- class government under the military will have a difficult time rooting out the Red subversives, but the majority of Chileans already had gone against the Reds before Allende's over throw, so the task is not impossible.

Many do not realize that communist dictator Castro of Cuba had installed his Number 2 intelligence official, Luis Fernandez Ona, in Chile. Ona was married to Allende's daughter Beatriz and was directing communist subversion against the Chilean middle class as well as against the universities, the press, etc. Castro also had arms for 20,000 guerrillas shipped secretly to Chile.

Chile's free press had been virtually destroyed under Allende, as it always must be before any Marxist rule can succeed. The communist-dominated unions and a section of the communist- led intellectuals and lower classes will continue to aid Castro and communist subversion, but the constructive, creative citizens of Chile are turning away from the nightmare of Red terror and confiscation under Allende. The military, with the good citizens' help and support, will be able quickly to restore constitutional government in Chile. HLH

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Public Be Damned:

Death Rode the News as Firemen Hospital Workers Broke Anti- Strike Laws

NEW YORK-- Here they play politics with fire--- and the dying. Here Tuesday morning there were scenes ghastly even to a newsman who has covered revolutionary strikes the world over. Here, striking unionized firemen laid down in front of apparatus and trucks attempting to respond to fire calls during a brief strike. The brevity of which is not important.

Here, too, striking hospital workers linked themselves in human chains to block deliveries of foods to the deathly sick and blood plasma to those in emergency surgery.

Here there was the grim scene of uniformed patrolmen physically lifting prone so-called firefighters from the entrance of the New York Fire Dept's. tactical force center on Roosevelt Island.

Here the firefighters' strike leader, 46- year- old, 5- foot, 7- inch Dick Vizzini said no fire equipment would move during the citywide five- hour strike if he could help it--- not even if there were a huge fire in the midst of crowded Manhattan.

And here the militant Local 1199, Drug and Hospital Workers Union (AFL- CIO), ran some rough picket lines. There were fights. Police were injured. Arrests made.

Snarling pickets howled lasciviously and earthily at nurses, supervisors, doctors and technicians entering hospitals to minister to the sick. These are the physicians and semi-professionals who ofttimes go without food for eight and ten hours in emergencies to succor the injured, the poor and the clinic patients from the city's Dostoyevskian inner darkness of poverty.

No one really knows who did what. But there was sand in gas tanks. Auto tires on cars near the stricken 48 hospitals were slashed. Friends of mine in several hospitals were threatened if they reported for duty--- though the hospitals had thousands of sick and injured and helpless.

The firefighters are members of the Uniformed Firefighters Assn., an affiliate of the AFL- CIO's International Association of Fire Fighters--- which backed its big New York local's strike just as it backed the Milwaukee firemen's job action this week.

Of course, the Drug and Hospital strikers were backed by their national union, also an AFL— CIO affiliate. Local 1199 is the high speed local led by veteran Leon Davis who hit hard at a Charleston, S. C., hospital some years ago--- and who is pushing a national hospital unionizing drive all the way from Durham, N. C., to Baltimore, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and points west.

Of course, there are issues. Mostly wages. That is the point. And that is not the point.

The basic issue, it seems to me, is the right of firefighters and hospital workers to strike. Should a city of eight million people be imperiled? If the firefighters and hospital workers have the right to strike, doesn't the megalopolis have the right to save its life--- and lives?

Most significant point is that legally these unions do not have the right to strike. They have the right to decent pay. They have the right to bargain collectively, organize politically to punish their opponents, and the inherent privilege, in our democratic society, to propagandize for their cause.

But the state and local laws here say they do not have the right to strike. The firefighters are prohibited from striking by the state Taylor Law and the New York City Collective Bargaining law. The latter calls for an impasse panel and fact-finding on to binding arbitration. The city had put this all in motion.

The firefighters, led by their brand new president Dick Vizzini, ignored it. Vizzini, who doesn't live in this city, was elected on a get- tough-with- the- city program--- and has been in office but three months.

He told me there would be a total strike and that violating the law and going to prison meant nothing to him.

As for the hospital workers, they won recognition only by a 45- day strike and the promise not to strike. They agreed to a law--- Section 815 of the State Labor Relations Act. It provides that hospitals cannot be struck.

They must put the dispute on the table and then go to compulsory arbitration if there's no agreement. They said Monday morning when they struck, they really are striking against the Cost of Living Council delay in approving the second raise of their three- year contract. Well, this means they struck illegally against the National Stabilization Act.

Thus, what good are laws? What good is all the talk about final arbitrations? As the late John Lewis used to say, "You can't mine coal with bayonets." But as Emily Dickinson wrote--- "A bayonet's contrition is nothing to be dead!"

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

Cox Crew Sought Evidence Of A Nixon- Wallace Deal

WASHINGTON-- The new special prosecutor, Leon Jaworski, has inherited a number of unfinished investigations that could embarrass the man who appointed him.

The task force left behind by the ousted Archibald Cox has been prying into everything from President Nixon's personal finances to the $100,000 cash offering from billionaire Howard Hughes.

There have been other awkward inquiries not mentioned in the press. The special prosecutors were questioning witnesses, for example, about a whispered deal between the President and Alabama's Gov. George Wallace.

It's known that Nixon was eager to keep Wallace from running as a third- party candidate in the 1972 presidential campaign. For Wallace was a spoiler who, as an independent, would hurt Nixon but, as a Democrat, would throw the Democratic race into turmoil.

PLANE DEAL?

In May 1971, the President invited Wallace to join him on a flight from Mobile to Birmingham. No known witnesses overheard what the two men said to one another during the plane ride.

But not long afterward, the Justice Department suddenly dropped a tax investigation of Wallace's brother, Gerald, and the governor announced he would run for President as a Democrat, not as an independent.

The special prosecutors cannot prove that Nixon killed the tax case in return for a pledge from Wallace to keep off a third- party ticket. But the prosecutors have established that the White House showed a curious interest in Gerald Wallace's tax troubles before the May 1971 plane ride.

Clark Mollenhoff, the tough investigative reporter who served briefly on the White House staff, has told the prosecutors that he was asked by then presidential staff chief H. R. Haldeman for a report on the Gerald Wallace tax investigation.

Mollenhoff obtained a summary of the investigation from the Internal Revenue Service, he said, and delivered it to Haldeman.

INCOME OMITTED

The audit division had found that Gerald Wallace allegedly had omitted legal- fee income from his tax returns in 1967 and 1968. After deducting large losses from his cattle farm, he reported a total taxable income of $109,944 in 1967 and $65,980 in 1968.

The case was referred on January 20, 1970, to Internal Revenue's crack intelligence division, which handles criminal investigations. A group of agents from various Southern offices, assigned to the case, reported allegations that the Wallace brothers had used their law firm to receive political kickbacks and that Gerald had failed to report all the income that came to him through the law firm.

The White House had all this information before President Nixon met with George Wallace in the spring of 1971. Not long afterward, the case against Gerald was suppressed.

KISSINGER'S SPENDING: Secretary of State Henry Kissinger last month threw a wingding, which has State Department officials whistling at the extravagance.

When the invoices came in, according to internal documents in our possession, fiscal officer Richard Murray called international conferences director Murray Jackson to express his astonishment.

The bash was held at New York City's Metropolitan Museum of Art, where the black- tied diplomats were seated around the Fountain of the Muses. The pool was adorned with garlands of greenery and large baskets of flowers. The flower bill alone cost the taxpayers an eyebrow-raising $7,983.

The guests dined elegantly on smoked trout, roast filet of veal, bouquet of vegetables, mixed green and avocado salad, Brie cheese and lemon mousse with three California wines. The taxpayers shelled out $24,385.50 just for the catering.

"Wines and Spirits" cost $3,422.11; printing costs ran $587.35. To record the bash for posterity, $222.60 was spent on photography.

A State Department spokesman told us the dinner was an annual tradition. Before the festivities, however, the striped- pants set was heralding the event as "totally without precedent."

COLSON'S COUP: It has been published that former White House aide Charles Colson tried to pull strings inside the Securities and Exchange Commission, which regulates the corporate world. We can now add another jigsaw piece to the puzzle.

Last January, aide Fred Malek was preparing recommendations for President Nixon for the SEC chairmanship. Colson shot off a memo to Malek, dated January 8, 1973, urging:

"When you are putting together a position paper for the President, would you please record me as favoring Brad Cook. Even though he is young, he is well experienced in politics, he knows the Commission and would be able to move immediately on some of the very sensitive problems the Commission has. I think he would also be totally responsive here...."

Cook got the job and Colson went into private practice. Not long afterward, Colson wanted Charles K. M. Mallory appointed to an SEC post. This was urged by Colson's law partner, Charles Morin, who pleaded in an internal memo: "In short, let's get this guy in that job or Cook may turn into a disaster for us."

Morin urged that Cook "ought to be reminded of how he got the job and how he almost did not get the job."

An indignant Mallory announced he wasn't "going to dance to anyone's tune." Cook resigned under fire on May 16th.

Rezoning report heard by Council

EAST PRAIRIE — The City Council heard a report Thursday night from Carey Johnson, chairman of the planning and zoning commission, on an Oct. 18 public hearing concerning the rezoning of 108 Webb Place from residential to commercial.

Richard Stevens, who lives at the address and wants to place used cars on the property, was present to protest the commission's recommendation to the council that the property remain residential.

Stevens said he had a petition signed by residents whose property adjoins his stating they have no objection to the car lot and he said the petition presented at the hearing was signed by persons not living in the immediate area of his property.

According to Johnson, the petition was signed by persons living within a 300-foot radius of the property.

A public hearing will be held at 7 p.m. Dec. 4 in the council chambers before a final decision is made.

The council approved the installation of a six- inch water line along Helen Street. The cost will be approximately $1,300 and the city crew will do the work.

Also approved was the purchase of a new radio for a patrol car and four walkie-talkie units for the police department. These will be purchased through the Bootheel Law Enforcement Assistance Council which will fund 90 per cent of the cost.

Following discussion on a retirement plan for city employes, the council agreed to spend $160 for an actuary evaluation of city employes which will determine the cost of a retirement plan through Local Government Employe Retirement System.

City Manager Bob Kakac informed the council that he had been contacted by two fire truck distributors and a manufacturer and that, following a meeting with the fire department, he and Fire Chief Frank King will tour Towers Fire Apparatus Co. in Freeburg, Ill. to determine what type of equipment should be purchased.

Mayor A. L. Weaver reappointed Carey Johnson and Edith Upton to the planning and zoning commission.

A request from residents on North Center Street for the city crew to remove a large tree, located between the sidewalk and street was granted.

Also approved was the request from First Bank of East Prairie for the removal of an old utility pole at the corner of Main and Lincoln Streets. Missouri Utilities will be contacted to do the work, and the traffic signal will remain at the intersection.

Kakac informed the council that Terry Green of East Prairie was employed Thursday as a day patrolman. He said he has two applications for the remaining vacancy on the police department.

A sample ordinance and contract for trash collection from the Missouri Municipal League was presented to the council for study by Kakac.

City Attorney Fielding Potashnick discussed the finalization of changes in the city ordinances and requested that the council study the ordinances in order that they can be given final approval at the next meeting.

The collector's report for October amounted to $13,318.03. Disbursements of $4,719.25 were approved. The police judge's report showed a total of $315 in collected fines for the month.

In a special meeting Oct. 30, a unanimous vote of the council favored revocation of the beer license of Buy Turbo, who operates a tavern at 703 Caldwell St.

WARSAW (AP) — In January 1975, Regina Resnik will become the first American to direct opera in Poland. She and her collaborator, artist Arbit Blatas, will stage and design Verdi's "Falstaff" in Italian and Polish at the Polish National Opera here.

The Italian production will star Sir Geraint Evans in the title role and Miss Resnik singing Mistress Quickly. An all-Polish cast will sing the Polish translation.

Ann Landers

Landlord spokesman tells of various kinds of tenants

Dear Ann Landers: I am 40, my wife is 42. We fight constantly. As for sex, I am not getting any, and as for money, I don't have any left after taking her out to dinner four nights a week and paying her bills.

The money problem could be easily solved if her 22- year-old son would pay something for room and board. The bum's take- home pay is 30 per cent more than mine, but his mother says he doesn't have to give us anything because he is "her" child.

In the meantime, she waits on him hand and foot as if he were eight years. old. He brings his goofy girlfriend over here almost every night and they smoke pot until the smell of the stuff is a trip by itself.

I told my wife several times that I don't like this set- up. She says I can leave any time because her son comes first and he always will. (This house is hers.) I love my wife but life is one big hassle. What should I do, Ann?--- Doormat In L. A.

Dear L. A.: I can't see that you are getting anything out of the marriage except the privilege of paying your wife's bills, supporting her freeloading son and getting semi- stoned from the pot parties.

Your signature raises a question in my mind. Why would anybody allow himself to be used as a doormat? If you really didn't like the set-up you wouldn't just lie there, you'd get up and move out.

Dear Ann Landers: You speak for the many and the few. The Upper Crust, the Middle Crust and the Crumbs. Will you dare take a stand for a much- maligned and popularly despised segment of society? I refer to the landlords.

I am not going to waste any time commenting on the people who move out in the middle of the night. Naturally they owe back- rent and have a lease. The caliber of such tenants leaves nothing to the imagination. The condition in which they leave a house or apartment is not to be believed. Everything that can be removed (with a screwdriver or an ax) goes with them. Since they usually live like pigs they leave the "sty" filthy dirty, complete with rotten food in the cupboards and refrigerator.

The star tenants, however, are those who assure you they will be out by September 30th so you go ahead and rent the place to another family. On September 26th when you call to find out what time the new tenants can move in, you are told, "Oh, our new place isn't ready yet. We won't be moving for another four to six weeks."

Meanwhile the new tenants have given notice and made arrangements with their movers.

You keep saying, "Most people are decent." I wish I could believe it, but after fifteen years of dirty tricks, I am a Doubting Thomas.

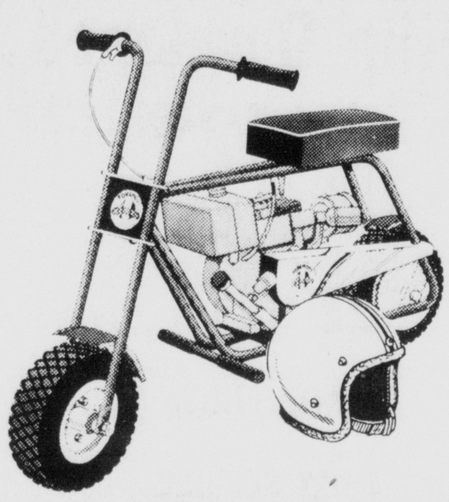

If you print this letter I'll bet thousands of landlords will have it copied and sent to their tenants. Please do it, Ann.--- Bitter Herb

Dear Herb: I'm printing your letter because I believe you have a valid complaint. But if I received a copy of this column in the mail from MY landlord I'd consider it an insult.

Confidential to Ashamed Of Myself You needn't be. It was an honest mistake. We are all ignorant--- only on different subjects.

A no- nonsense approach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangement. Ann Landers's booklet, "Marriage-- What To Expect," will prepare you for better or for worse. Send your request to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654, enclosing 50c in coin and a long, stamped, self- addressed envelope.

DAR give dedication ceremony

NEW MADRID-- The Lucy Jefferson Lewis Chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution conducted a flag dedication ceremony Monday at 10 a.m. at Immaculate Conception School.

Children from the school sang "America the Beautiful", and Mrs. Francis Ruby, chapter flag chairman, welcomed guests and thanked those responsible for donation and work on the flag ceremony.

Mrs. Leo Hedgepeth, regent, introduced Miss Dorothy Conway of Jefferson City, who read a poem on the flag and led the dedication ceremony.

The pledge of allegiance was recited following the raising of the flag, then all joined to sing "The Star Spangled Banner".

Spring clothes are fanciful and fey

NEW YORK (AP)— Betsey Johnson's spring collection for Alley Cat was fanciful fey and sometimes ridiculous.

She went tiny, with her hats and mini skirts. Or she went big, with midis, ruffles and nightgown dresses.

Models started in pastel bathing suits, but it was like putting the leaves back on an artichoke. Dancing and pantomining, they layered on cotton knit blouses, jackets and caps. They slipped into matching long johns.

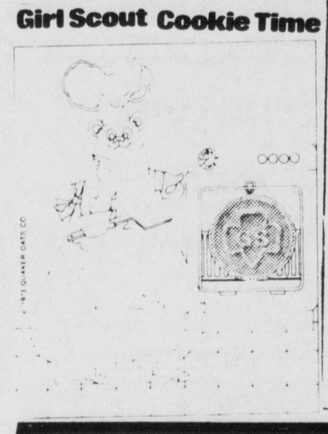

Here is the chance for everyone with a raucous sense of humor to get into Betsey's little round hats and veiling, set at a forward tilt. Pair these with a long, white suit. Or pants.

Match a drooping tam with a straight midi suit. The top looks like a football jersey with the sleeves cut out. It is so absurd that it is funny and almost likeable.

Now is the time for all the women with lean, supple bodies to show them off— shorts with long socks— chiffon pajamas with a bare middle.

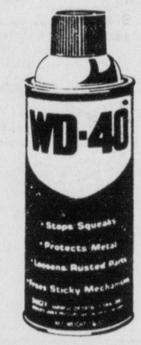

Drifters and dreamers, maybe on the plump side, might to for the chiffon tent dresses.

Cook a fabulous meal in a Countertop Electronic Oven

TAPPAN
FIRST IN ELECTRONIC COOKING

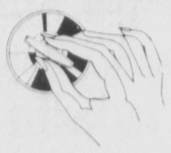

Enjoy all the many benefits of electronic cooking now . . . without remodeling your kitchen. New Tappan electronic oven fits on your kitchen countertop, plugs into standard outlets, can be moved to dining room, patio or den. Best of all, it's from Tappan — the people who introduced electronic cooking for the home back in 1954.

Electronic energy is a form of high frequency radio energy. When the energy comes into contact with food, instant heating takes place.

The electronic oven cooks with time, so there are no temperatures to remember. You just set the timer dial, then push the "start" button.

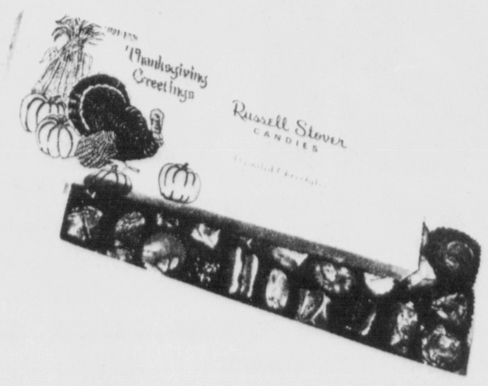

Because the metal surfaces in the oven reflect energy, they don't get hot. Cleaning is easier because foods don't burn in the oven.

Throw away your pots and pans. In the new electronic oven, you cook in glass, paper or ceramic utensils . . . the same ones you serve in.

Let us demonstrate this miraculous new oven for you . . . then carry one home for just 295.95

Harrison offers cage guesses

The Daily Standard's mustachioed sportswriter prognosticator, Stuart McGhee, has taken over the lead in the overall best percentage after a 7- 8 mark last week to edge out the season long leader, Danny Summerfield by one percentage point, 84.1 to 83.1.

But the real story connected to last week's guessing game was the eight of eight performance of the old pro, who has been the only guesser to stick his head out for the upset all season long and called four of seven on the year. His mark jumped to 78.5 with a 51- 65 average. A mark that would have been a lot better had he not tried to back the Bulldogs so much.

Here are the season averages as we move into the ninth week of action:

David Ziegenhorn		7- 10	70%
Tony Ford		33- 45	73.3%
Billy Harrison	0- 1	7- 11	63.6%
Eddie Smart	7- 0	26- 38	68.4%
Bobby Gentry	7- 9	47- 65	72.3%
Scott Marlin	6- 8	40- 55	72.7%
Mike Gentry	7- 8	49- 65	75.4%
Jerry Gentry	7- 8	49- 65	75.4%
John Greer	7- 8	51- 65	78.5%
Ron Jaynes	8- 8	51- 65	78.5%
Dianne Ezzell	7- 8	52- 64	81.2%
Danny Summerfield	6- 8	54- 65	83.1%
Stuart McGhee	7- 8	53- 63	84.1%

Basketball steps into the picture tonight and will be even more prevailent next week as the footballers close out their regular season schedules.

Mr. Basketball, Bill Harrison, our righthand man around the sports department has offered his first predictions for the season...We'll have them for you right after we review the football guesses.

Our regular staff has again offered their predictions. Venturing guesses this week are Dianne Ezzell, Stuart McGhee, Bobby Gentry, Jerry Gentry, Mike Gentry, John Greer, Danny Summerfield, Eddie Smart and the old pro.

The panel had very few different views as to the winners this week. As a matter of fact, the only game they differed on was the Charleston- Cape clash.

Danny, John and Dianne already have one miss going into tonight's schedule as the Benglas made rather easy work of the Jays.

Poplar Bluff, Jackson, Dexter, East Prairie, Illmo-Scott City, Doniphan, Union City, Tenn., and Caruthersville were unanimous picks of the panel to record wins. But look for the surprise Portageville upset of the Rams.

In basketball, Wild Bill has gone with Twin Rivers, Meadow Heights, Puxico, Zalma, Senath- Hornersville, Clearwater and Leadwood and predicts a 100 percent average...But I disagree with the expert on one game...Van Buren will take the Royals.

Join with us next week....try your luck with next Friday's cage games...

Here's Bill's guesses:
Matthews 70, Risco 68
Twin Rivers 65, Van Buren 60
Meadow Heights 68, Marquand 59
Puxico 70, Delta 57
Zalma 62, Bell City 55
Senath 85, Holcomb 50
Clearwater 80, Greenville 56
Leadwood 72, Ellington 50

Hockey interest grows

The sport of ice hockey is not too well known in this area, but for some it has a special meaning.

Jim Elliott, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Crosno of Morehouse and nephew of Mrs. Wanda Dillon and Mrs. Helen Hensley of Sikeston, has recently been selected to play ice hockey for the Semi-Pro Canadian Junior "A" Hockey Team being formed in St. Louis for boys ranging in age from 15 to 18 with a "B" average in school.

Junior "A"hockey comes under the jurisdiction of the NHL Association, and when the boys become of age they are eligible for the expansion draft of the NHL or playing college hockey.

The schedule for the first year will be 40 games of which 20 will be played in St. Louis and 20 games away - in Canada, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, New Hampshire, Illinois, Indiana, and several teams throughout the Chicago area including the Chicago Minor Black Hawks.

Jim has been active in ice hockey in the St. Louis area for the past five years having received many trophies for outstanding performances on the ice, and last year scored the most goals and had the most assists in the St. Louis High School Club Hockey League of which 28 teams participated. Jim was also one of the top scorers as a member of the Mid- America Hockey traveling team of St. Louis last year that ranked third in the Nationals in their age group.

Bengals tame Jays

By DIANNE EZZELL

CAPE CENTRAL-- When you're hot, you're hot; and when you're not, you're not.

Through the first seven games of the season, the Charleston Blue Jays were as hot as they come. The past two weeks the Jays have run into two teams determined to cool them off, and that is exactly what Poplar Bluff did last week and Cape Central did Thursday night, defeating CHS 28- 14.

On the first play of the game, J. J. Black was injured when attempting to make a tackle and was unable to play the remainder of the first half. With Black out of the line up the Jays definitely suffered, but the outstanding running of Greg Johnson kept them close.

After Cape Central failed to move the ball in the first series of downs, they punted to Charleston and Charlie Glenn fumbled on Charleston's 34 yard line. Cape moved in to score with Steve C. Taylor and Bill Seabaugh being the big gainers. Seabaugh carried the ball over from the nine yard line and Jeff Hutton booted the extra point to give Cape a 7- 0 lead in the first quarter.

After Charleston failed to move the ball in four downs, Cape Central drove 77 yards with Bill Seabaugh passing to a wide open Don Gross for a 54 yard touchdown. Hutton missed the extra point.

Charleston started to move the ball late in the first quarter and continued to drive in the second quarter as they drove 65 yards in 14 plays to score. Kent Sutherland plunged over from the one yard line and Greg Johnson scored the two point conversion to make the score 13- 8 late in the second quarter.

After exchanging punts, Tim Vickery returned a Delay punt 40 yards and Taylor broke loose for 31 and 13 yard gallops to score Cape's third touchdown of the first half. Taylor ran the ball over for the two point conversion and Cape had a 21- 8 half time lead.

Charleston started a drive in the third quarter that consumed nearly eight minutes of the quarter only to fumble and give Cape the ball on their own 25 yard line. With the line backers shooting the gaps, Steve C. Taylor slipped through the line and raced 75 yards for his second touchdown of the evening. The extra point by Hutton gave Cape a 28- 8 lead that they were never to relenquish.

After an exchange of punts during the remainder of the third and most of the fourth quarters, Charleston started to drive. Donnie Hatchell, on a halfback option, threw to Charlie Glenn for a 19 yard gain. Delay then passed to Alfred Marshall for a 15 yard gain. On the next play Delay found Ralph Mitchell all alone in the end zone for a thirty yard scoring play. The two point conversion failed and the Tigers held on to win 28- 14.

The leading ground gainer for the Blue Jays was J. J. Black who managed to carry the ball 19 times in the second half for 73 yards. Steve C. Taylor led all rushers with 197 yards in 19 carries.

ENSENADA, Mexico — Bobby Ferro of Sherman Oaks, Calif., twice a winner of the Baja 500, captured the 875- mile Baja 1000 in 16 hours, 50 minutes, finishing 1 hour and 23 minutes ahead of Walker Evans and Shelby Monjeon, both of Riverside, Calif.

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)— The U. S.- Soviet Union track meet will be held next July 5- 6 in Durham, Ollan Cassell said Thursday.

Cassell, executive director of the Amateur Athletic Union, held a news conference on the meet after returning from a trip to Russia to work on detailed plans for the meet.

Cassell said he was confident that international tensions will not affect the meet, which is scheduled to be held in Duke University's Wallace Wade Stadium.

The Russians won both the men's and women's competition this year in the Soviet Union.

LOS ANGELES (AP)— The Los Angeles Rams had 15,376 unsold tickets Thursday, meaning their National Football League game Sunday against New Orleans will not be shown locally on television.

A sellout 72 hours prior to the kickoff is required to lift the local TV blackout.

RAMONA, Calif. (AP)— A reunion of Davis Cup champions will bring together this weekend Jack Kramer, Ellsworth Vines, Gardner Mulloy, Bobby Riggs, Tony Trabert and others.

After some informal matches at San Diego Country Estates, "the outstanding Davis Cup player" will be announced.

The first woman tennis pro, Eleanor "Teach" Tennant, will be given a special award.

Series payoff

NEW YORK (AP) — When the Oakland A's won the World Series in 1972, they pocketed about $20,000 apiece. For doing the same thing this year, they each came away with better than $24,000.

That's inflation for you.

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn released the World Series shares Thursday with the A's victory over New York worth a record $24,760.87 per man and the losing Mets getting $14,960.18 apiece.

The biggest payoff pool in World Series history resulted from record attendances for the five-game National and American League playoffs as well as the Series. The combined total attendance was 643,641.

The total player purse was $1,992,461.17 with receipts for World Series and league championship series reaching $5,337,281.25. The commissioner's office and both league offices share in the receipts as well as the participating World Series clubs and the first three finishers in each of baseball's four divisions.

The Mets voted 34 full shares, the largest total of any of the 12 teams that receive World Series money. Oakland awarded 27 full shares.

Among the New York cuts was a full share voted to the Shea Stadium ground crew. The Mets also voted half shares of $7,475.08 apiece to Jim Fregosi and Phil Hennigan, who both left the club in July, and John Strohmayer, a relief pitcher who made only seven appearances and pitched 10 innings after coming to the Mets to replace Hennigan. Jim Gosger, a veteran outfielder who spent a couple of mid-summer months with the Mets, batting .239 in 37 games, received a one-third share of $4,983.39.

The Mets also voted $100 apiece to several players who joined the club late in the season. Included in that group was rookie pitcher Bob Apodaca, who pitched in only one game, walking the only two batters he faced, and journeyman pitcher Bob Miller, a Met original who was purchased from Detroit and appeared in only one game, pitching just one inning.

Performance must have played a major part in the thinking of Oakland's players when they cut up the Series pool. Jesus Alou and Vic Davalillo both came to the A's from the National League on the same day. Alou batted .306 in 36 games and was voted onehalf share of $12,380.43. Davalillo batted .188 in 37 games and got one-third share of $8,253.62.

Among other Oakland cuts were a one-quarter share of $6,190.22 for Mike Andrews, who became the center of Series controversy when owner Charles O. Finley tried to place him on the disabled list following a pair of crucial errors, and $2,476.09 for Allan Lewis, the A's designated runner, who appeared in 35 games during the season without ever going to bat.

Bowl talk

NEW ORLEANS (AP)— Second- ranked Alabama will meet No. 5 Notre Dame in the Sugar Bowl while seventh- ranked Louisiana State will take on No. 6 Penn State in the Orange Bowl, The Associated Press has learned.

However, the plans would be scuttled if Notre Dame turns down a challenge by Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant to play his Crimson Tide in the Sugar Bowl.

Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian said Thursday: "Right now, our primary job is to get ready for our game with Pittsburgh" Saturday. "We're honored by the fact that they (Alabama) want to play us and by the fact they consider us as solid competition."

Notre Dame and Alabama have never played each other, and it was reported unofficially that the Notre Dame players, who have never been in the Sugar Bowl, want to play Alabama.

Alabama's last appearance in the New Orleans bowl was in 1967 when it beat Nebraska 347.

Soon after word of the virtually certain Sugar Bowl match, LSU voted Thursday to play "an opponent which has at this time a higher rating in the wire service poll." The only eligible opponent ranked higher than the Tigers "at this time" is Penn State.

Cards sign free agent

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Clancy Oliver, 25, a free agent signed by the St. Louis Cardinals to shore up the National Football League team's injury-depleted defensive backfield, may see some action in Sunday's game against the Green Bay Packers at Green Bay, according to Coach Don Coryell.

The Cardinals announced the signing of Oliver Thursday.

The 6-foot-1, 185-pound Oliver, a product of San Diego State, has been a free agent since he was released in August by the San Diego Chargers.

The Cardinals, 3-4-1 in the NFL's National Conference East, have lost veteran cornerback Roger Wehrli for three or four weeks with a knee injury suffered last week against the Denver Broncos.

Big weekend in college FB

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan State's chances of defeating top-ranked, unbeaten Ohio State Saturday and registering a major college football upset for the third year in a row were all but dashed last week when three key offensive players were sidelined with injuries.

However, Michigan State Coach Dennis Stolz is quick to explain the formidable Spartan defense was responsible for the two upsets.

Ohio State, 7-0, has given up only two touchdowns and 20 points in two games. The steamrolling Buckeye rushing attack which has averaged 372 yards a game is spearheaded by tailback Archie Griffin, who has dashed for 888 yards, and quarterback Cornelius Greene, who has rushed for 574.

Michigan State, 3-5, will be without quarterback Charlie Baggett, center Charlie Ane and tackle Phil Smolinski, all of whom underwent surgery and are lost for the season.

Third-ranked Oklahoma, paced by quarterback Steve Davis and running back Joe Washington, risks its undefeated record against No. 10 Missouri. The Sooners are 6-0-1 while the Tigers are 7-1.

Fifth-ranked Notre Dame, 70, has been offered a chance to play second-ranked Alabama in the Sugar Bowl, but the only game Fighting Irish Coach Ara Parseghian is concerned about is Saturday's clash with No. 20 Pittsburgh.

The Crimson Tide voted Thursday to go to the Sugar Bowl with the intention of playing Notre Dame.

An offensive battle is expected when No. 6 Penn State, 8-0, faces unranked North Carolina State. The Nittany Lions have averaged 39 points a game and are 11th in the nation in total offense while North Carolina State has averaged 32.9 points a contest and is 15th in overall offense.

The eighth-ranked Southern California Trojans, 6-1-1, on the heels of a 50-14 romp over California last weekend are rated 25-point favorites to defeat Stanford. The game between No. 9 UCLA, 7-1, and Oregon will match the Pacific-8 Conference's two leading rushers. Kermit Alexander of UCLA has bolted for 827 yards while Don Reynolds of Oregon has run for 802.

In other games involving Top Twenty teams: No. 11 Nebraska, 6-1-1, hosts Iowa State; No. 12 Texas Tech, 7-1, is at Texas Christian; Baylor is at No. 13 Texas, 5-2; Wyoming journeys to No. 14 Arizona State, 7-1; No. 15 Houston, 7-1, is at Colorado State; No. 17 Miami, Ohio, 8-0, plays at No. 19 Kent State, 7-1, and No. 18 Kansas, 5-2-1, hosts Colorado.

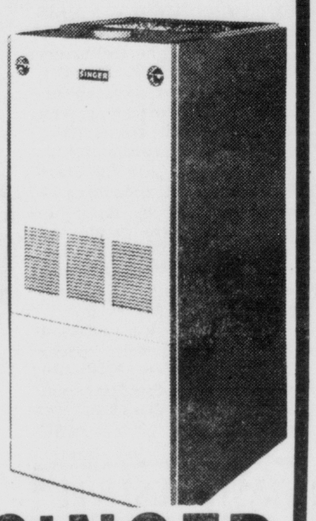

Second-ranked Alabama, 8-0, seventh-ranked Louisiana State, 8-0, and No. 16 Tennesee are idle this weekend.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)— Len Kismalski, 7- foot senior center, was elected captain Thursday of the Tennessee basketball team for the upcoming season.

Kosmalski, of Maple Heights, Ohio, averaged 17 points per game last year and 19.5 his sophomore season. He was invited to the Olympic tryouts in 1972 but was slowed by a bout with mononucleosis.

General Baptists to keep headquarters in P. Bluff

POPLAR BLUFF— It's official now, Poplar Bluff has been selected as the national headquarters for the General Baptist Church.

The announcement was made at the Chamber of Commerce's noon luncheon meeting Monday by Dr. Kenneth R. Kennedy, the denomination's executive secretary.

This decision means that the present General Baptist facilities will be expanded to include construction of a new headquarters building on property owned by the denomination just north of the city limits.

Though the General Baptists have maintained offices here since 1938, there was some speculation that the headquarers might be moved elsewhere for the proposed expansion.

Smiling, Dr. Kennedy notified the chamber that the vote of the denomination's hierarchy was almost unanimous to remain in Poplar Bluff.

Commenting on the length of time it took to make the decision, Dr. Kennedy joked that it was "hard to get Baptists to agree on anything."

The new headquarters building will be built on a 14.6- acre tract located on Highway 67 North near the Knob television tower. The land was purchased in 1971.

Target date for the start of construction, according to Dr. Kennedy, is April 1, 1975. "We have made no contracts as yet," Dr. Kennedy said, "but I'm sure we will select a local builder."

Initial building construction will cover 15,000 square feet, Kennedy said. The new facilities will house all, or most of the denominational offices with additional office space for expansion of the organization. It will include a chapel, board meeting room and storage and work area.

Local offices of the denomination include that of the executive secretary, Foreign Mission Board, Home Mission Board, Women's Mission Board and the Board of Christian Education and Publications. The General Baptist Press is also located here, but there are no current plans of moving it from its current location on Highway 67 South near the General Baptist Book Store, which will also remain at the same location.

Dr. Kennedy expressed his appreciation for the work done by the local Chamber of Commerce and Poplar Bluff Industries to help insure a favorable Poplar Bluff vote by the denomination's board.

"We are very happy with the decision," Kennedy remarked. "We like Poplar Bluff. We feel it is our kind of town."

Dr. Kennedy, a native of the Gideon area, has served in his present capacity here since September 1965. He succeeded Dr. J. L. Mondy, the first person to hold that title.

A minister and former missionary to the Phillippines, Dr. Kennedy and his family live on Route Three.

The General Baptists came here in 1938, relocating their printing interest from Owensville, Ind. In 1948 a used press was purchased and located in an old church building on North Main Street. Later, in 1953, it was moved to its current location on Highway 67 South.

The bookstore building on Highway 67 was erected in 1960.

In 1959, the General Baptist denomination conceived the office of denominational executive secretary and set up headquarters, or its national denominational office, here. The first office was located in the press building.

The office continued to be in the press building until July 1966 when a building, formerly housing the King of Clubs tavern, was leased. The extructure was remodeled and denominational offices that were being added to the operation were housed there.

This building was purchased in 1972 and further remodeled to serve as the General Baptist headquarters building.

Scripture: Romans 12:14-13: 14

Living Victoriously In Society

It has been said that the business of the church is to mobilize its spiritual power to solve our social and economic problems.

The Christian gospel demands a divine-human response to others as well as to conflict. And the gospel of Christ calls believers to bear the evil of others.

In these verses in Romans Paul returns to his roll of teaching. He is following the examples set forth by Christ, who proclaimed the gospel with an emphasis on the teaching roll.

There are many modern-day problems available for discussion in Paul's comments today.

"Rejoice with those who rejoice, weep with those who weep." Voltaire said that "Tears are the silent language of grief." And Charles Dickens added that "Heaven knows we need never be ashamed of our tears."

A man who is full of love for all things in the world is happy. Plato thought that happiness is gained by the right use of the things of life.

"Live in harmony with one another; do not be haughty, but associate with the lowly; never be conceited." Paul proclaimed.

This, obviously, is easier to say than to accomplish Christians are not to avenge themselves and are not to repay evil for evil.

Apparently, much of what Paul says here came from the Sermon on the Mount, yet scholars are not sure whether Paul ever saw or heard Jesus. Certainly Paul must have heard these comments from the famous sermon by Christ.

Similar admonitions are heard from the other gospel writers. Yet even in Paul's day it was a challenge for one to conquer his enemies through love.

Nevertheless, our society too often resorts to the "getting even" concept--in the business world, in our political campaigns, and too frequently in our day-to-day activities.

Probably the most discussed of Paul's comments is his command to "let every person be subject to the governing authorities. For there is no authority except from God, and those that exist have been instituted by God."

Paul's advice is to respectfully submit to civil authorities on the basis that secular authorities would not exist at all apart from divine permission.

Paul does not bestow any deity standing upon the emperor. The Roman authorities, however, did provide a stabilizing influence upon the world. They often provided good roads that were used by the early Christians to spread the teachings of Jesus.

Without government there would be anarchy. Paul realized that a solid government is needed for Christianity to flourish. We have seen the problems of government-religious relationships in today's society.

The structures of society should be designed for the service of humanity in a manner consistent with God's will. In the normal course of life in the world conflict can be expected.

It has been said that "Government is no other than the soul of a city or nation." Our study of history reveals that men usually call upon God when they form a government.

Machiavelli in 1519 said, "If the Christian religion had from the beginning been maintained according to the principles of its founder, the Christian states and republics would have been much more united and happy than what they are."

What, then, can we do in a secular society to create a more Christian-like attitude?

We can seek and achieve more wholesome relationships with those about us, our family, neighbors, and others.

We are to let God handle the situations in which we have been wronged. It is not for us to return evil for evil.

We are to serve the authorities and by our own example make our government one that Paul would approve.

An article on the church page in last Friday's edition of The Daily Standard inadvertantly combined parts of the two homecoming celebrations into one story, and the church page editor regrets the error.

Council orders sidewalks built

50 years ago
November 9, 1923

There are now 12 new houses either completed or in the course of construction in Addition and E. C. Matthews has built some of them. He recently completed four good cottages on Park avenue.

A good start has been made at providing houses for shoe factory workers, although the start was a little slow in coming. The new factory for the International Shoe Co., is nearing completion. The machinery is now being installed.

Al Moore of East Prairie, brought to Sikeston Tuesday, 10 head of fine fat Angus steers and sold them to C. B. Watson, proprietor of the Sellards Meat Market.

Many new sidewalks were ordered constructed by the city council at its regular monthly meeting Monday. A new walk was ordered west of the Peoples Bank on West Center street; on the east side of North Kingshighway, north of the residence of Dr. Adams' home; on Delmar north of Prosperity from Hahs Machine Works to the railroad; on the east side of Park avenue; and north of College.

Networks announce new shows

NEW YORK (AP) — It's only November but the ax already is falling on this season's new TV shows. The latest to get cancellation notices are "Calucci's Dept." and "Roll Out."

The notices from CBS brass bring to four the number of new programs canceled so far. ABC already has axed "Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice," while CBS last week said it was folding the "New Perry Mason" series and replacing it Feb. 10 with "Apple's Way."

That series, created by Earl Hamner, author of the toprated "Waltons," is about a successful Los Angeles architect who gives up the good life there and returns with his family to live in his home town of Appleton, Iowa.

ABC is filling its "Bob & Carol" time slot with movies until Nov. 28, when it starts running the first of five Wednesday night Dick Clark minispecials on the golden era of rock 'n' roll.

CBS says "Calucci" is being replaced by "Dirty Sally," a comedy Western, and "Roll OUt" by "Great Day," a black situation comedy set in a Chicago ghetto. The changes will be made in early January.

An interesting note on "Airport," the blockbuster 1970 movie ABC-TV is airing Sunday night: The Airline Pilots Association isn't raising cain with ABC for showing the thing.

The film's various characters include a loonie who boards an airliner, intending to blow up the plane in flight so his wife can collect insurance money.

The ALPA objected to this when "Airport" was made, contending that the make-believe drama might prompt deranged persons to try it in real life, an ALPA spokesman said.

However, when asked if his group had lodged a similar protest with ABC about the movie, he said there wouldn't be any.

"Very frankly," he said, "the thing we've decided to do is to keep quiet about it because it (a protest) only serves to heighten interest in the film."

This approach sharply contrasts with one of nearly seven years ago, when ALPA blasted NBC for showing "Doomsday Flight," a made-for-TV movie by Rod Serling that focused on an extortion plot against an airline.

NBC, which ran the movie on Dec. 13, 1966, decided against ever repeating it after getting heavy protests from pilots and others. Serling subsequently said he regretted the film even was made.

"Doomsday" was shown well before the strict passenger checks now common at U.S. airports went into effect.

Prayer for today

from the Upper Room

I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee. (Hebrews 13:5) PRAYER: Father, life is so hard and I am so weak and tired. Help me to look to Jesus and trust Him more. Show me how to share my life with others. In His name. Amen.

What's the law?

The case of the two-faced action

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

What Alvin liked most about girls were his arms. And to achieve that goal, he'd even talk about marriage. But like the stuttering preacher, he never married in haste. In fact, he had no intention of marrying at all. Consequently, after seducing Hilda, one moonlight night, and then refusing to marry her, Alvin found himself being sued by her for assault and battery.

"The only reason I was chased and caught," complained Hilda in court, "was because Alvin tricked and deceived me. His talk about us going to see a minister was just a lot of soft soap made of lye."

"I never assaulted a girl in my life," was Alvin's defense. "The fact of the matter is, when I started to kiss Hilda, she enjoyed it as much as I did. It was a mutually agreeable two-faced action. So how could it be an assault and battery?"

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make Alvin pay for assault and battery?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that when a woman knowlingly becomes a party to a display of affection, her consent prevents her from complaining that she has been assaulted. And, in this case, noted the judge, Hilda advanced no protests to Alvin's advances.

INVISIBLE RESIDENTS
by Ivan T. Sanderson
(Avon 15511/$.95
248pp.)

"I contend that if we will only stick to being logical, there is no reason

(a) why there could not be an extremely advanced civilization under water

(b) why it might not be up to twice as old as ours

(c) why it should not have developed what we call 'space flight'

(d) why it should not be so far in advance of us technically that we would never have noticed it until we started to develop a few really sensitive gadgets."

Ivan T. Sanderson makes the startling statements above in his book INVISIBLE RESIDENTS, now a paperback available from Avon, and he offers extensive material to justify these statements. The many sightings of lighted objects rising from, hovering over, and descending to waters are among the data Sanderson considers in this study of the possibility of advanced ancient civilizations living beneath our waters.

Scientists have found that everybody dreams four to six times a night. Each dream lasts between 15 and 20 minutes.

Inflation hasn't changed the price of ashes.

But it has changed the price of your home. For example, if you bought a $20,000 home in 1968—today it's worth about $27,000. Don't be left with a costly pile of ashes. See me about a State Farm Homeowners Policy that will cover your home for all it's worth . . . and keep it that way with automatic Inflation Coverage.

November 15th: Do you have what it takes to speculate in commodity futures

Come to our next Merrill Lynch Forum and find out.

Commodity futures speculation isn't for the faint-hearted. Or for small investors seeking maximum return with minimum risk.

But if you're the kind of man who has the intellectual discipline to outline a trading plan and stick to it, and the financial strength to back-up that plan with a sizable amount of risk capital, speculating may be for you.

At the Forum we'll tell you how commodities like silver, potatoes, and corn are traded as futures. Why commodity futures speculating offers more leverage than any other organized form of trading. Merrill Lynch's 9 rules for successful commodity futures speculation. Common mistakes to avoid. How to get started. And more.

The forum is free. But space is limited. So reserve your seats now. Call. Or mail the coupon. But come.

• Thursday, November 15th, 7:30 p.m.

At the Ramada Inn, Interstate 55 & Highway 62, Sikeston, Illinois.

Motorists urged to turn on lights

JEFFERSON CITY-- Col. Sam S. Smith, superintendent of the Missouri Highway Patrol, today urged motorists to turn on their vehicles' headlights at twilight for added safety.

"Twilight creates special visibility hazards to drivers," Smith pointed out. "Sharp line and color contrasts which make objects readily visible in the daytime are not easily seen during this time of the day. It has been found, however, that cars are better seen at twilight with their headlights on. I urge drivers, therefore, to turn on their low beam headlights while traveling during the hours of twilight so that other drivers, as well as pedestrians, can be more aware of their presence on the streets and highways."

The patrol superintendent emphasized that headlights, NOT parking, lights should be turned on at twilight. Parking lights do little good in helping a vehicle to be seen moving down a highway. Low beam headlights, not parking lights, should be used at twilight.

"The shorter hours of daylight during this time of the year will find many motorists on the road at twilight," Smith continued. "I urge them to turn their vehicles' headlights on low beam so they can be better seen by others and thus add to their safety at twilight."

PAUL REVERE'S SECOND RIDE .. was through the streets of Sikeston ... He came upon a well kept 1 1/2 story home nestled on a corner lot in the heart of town. He didn't even need his horse because he could walk to downtown or the shopping center in five minutes. As he entered the front foyer, you could hear him cheering to the spaciousness of the living room and dining room. The kitchen would accommodate the supplies for his army of men. The master bedroom also on the first floor with its own bath would have impressed the greatest of generals. From here he raced up the steps to find three bedrooms and another bath which he quickly visualized as a cozy resting place for his men. In the full basement he found it to be clean and dry and certainly adequate to store his ammunition or as a recreational room for his men. Paul Revere's only problem now is to convert British pounds into 24,000 American dollars.

The Missouri State Highway Department has announced that traffic on the uncompleted 13- mile section of Interstate - 55 between Hayti and Steele will be rerouted from its present position on Route 61 to the newly constructed northbound lane of I-55.

This rerouting will permit the contractor, R. B. Potashnick, and his subcontractors to proceed with the work necessary to bring the existing southbound lane (Route 61) to interstate standards. Work to be done includes bridge widening and replacement, resurfacing, and shouldering.

To accomplish the switch, all four lanes will be temporarily opened on Nov. 15 to allow the contractor to construct median crossovers to the new northbound lane.
